Canada's Robot Plane

A miniature flying robot plane, pilotless and controlled by radio, has final throttle adjustments made before taking off at the R.C.A.F.'s base at Deseronto, near Belleville, Ont. The plane, capable of 300 miles an hour, has a wingspan of 11 feet and is powered with a 72-horsepower gasoline engine. It takes off from a circular runway and at the end of its flight returns to earth by parachute. The parachute opening is controlled by radio from the ground. Adjusting the throttle is Cpl. C. Workman while LAC. Johnny Linden steadies the tail.

Dodgers Do It Again, 5-3

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — Preacher Roe, veteran Brooklyn southpaw, limited the New York Yankees to six hits, including homers by Yogi Berra and pinch-hitter Johnny Mize, as the Dodgers won the third game of the World Series, 5-3, today and took a 2-1 lead in the series.

YOUTHS CRASH STOLEN CAR DURING CHASE

Two Alberni youths are reported in good condition in West Coast General Hospital at Port Alberni following a crash Thursday in a car which the pair had allegedly stolen from a used car lot in the up-Island city.

A wild chase, at speeds up to 80 miles an hour along the twisting mountain highway east of Alberni, preceded the vehicle's plunge off the road at hairpin curve, McKinley's Corner, according to R.C.M.P. The vehicle was a complete loss. The youths were reported as 15 and 16 years of age.

Canada's Gold, U.S. Dollar Holdings High

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP) — Canada's official reserves of United States dollars and gold reached an all-time high of $1,856,000,000 on Sept. 30, Finance Minister Abbott announced today.

The reserves, used as a cushion to block any sharp fluctuations in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar, had continued to rise all through the first nine months of 1952.

On Sept. 30 they were more than $200,000,000 greater than the $1,610,000,000 on the corresponding date a year ago, Mr. Abbott reported.

The peak of $1,856,000,000 Sept. 30 compared with the critical low of less than $500,000,000 at the end of 1947 when Canada was forced to impose temporary import curbs to rebuild her reserves.

Rural Donors Leading In Red Feather Race

Canvassers Won't Quit Hunt for Funds While Chance Remains for Donations

The 1952 Red Feather campaign will not be considered finished until everyone in Greater Victoria has had the opportunity to donate, campaign co-chairman Ralph B. Mathews said today.

Living Cost Index Drops 1.1 Points

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP) — The cost-of-living index declined by 1.1 points during August to 186.5 from 187.6, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. It was the second consecutive monthly decline in the index which had reached a peak of 191.5 last December.

The August decline was caused mostly by lower prices for food stuffs and some clothing items. Lower prices for meat, fresh vegetables, oranges, lemons and sugar offset price boosts for butter and eggs dropping the food sub-index to 234.2 from 238.0.

With the quarterly survey on rents completed, the rent sub-index jumped one point to a new high of 148.9 from 147.9.

All figures in the index and sub-indices are based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

The clothing sub-index slipped to 207.7 from 208.6, following declines in men's and women's apparel and woollen piece goods.

In the home furnishings and services group, a decline in prices for woollen rugs, cotton sheets and electrical goods pushed the sub-index down to 195.8 from 196.0.

"We have a big area to cover, and are not going to stop until there has been a 100 per cent canvass," he said. "We think the citizens will meet the challenge." Greater Victoria has now achieved 40 per cent of its $195,000 objective.

Metchosin residents lead the way in the race among 14 separate districts to top their individual quotas. They have subscribed 186 per cent of their quota, while the former leader, Central Saanich, is in second place with 83 per cent collected. Langford is in third place with 68 per cent of its objective subscribed.

One of the largest donations of the last two days was that of $1,800, presented to Mr. Mathews Thursday by Miss Eleanor Nagel on behalf of the B.C. Electric employees community welfare committee.

But there is still a long way to go. Only $78,000 is in hand, and the target is $195,000.

Britain May Have Exploded Hell Bomb

BRITISH OFFICIAL MUM ON PENDING WAR ON U.S.

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP) — A Foreign Office spokesman said with a straight face today he has "no information" about any impending attack by Britain on the United States or by the United States on Britain.

He was commenting at a daily news conference on Russian Prime Minister Stalin's suggestion in a magazine article that Britain eventually will engage the U.S. in conflict to insure her independence "and of course high profits."

Iroquois Hit; Three Killed

Red Shore Batteries Smash Canadian Craft As Navy Announces First Korea Casualties

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (CP) — The Canadian destroyer Iroquois has been hit by a Communist shore battery in Korea and an officer and two seamen were listed as dead and three other seamen injured in action, the navy announced today.

It was the first naval casualty list of the Korean war.

The Iroquois, which joined two other Canadian destroyers in Korea—the Nootka and the Crusader—last June, was alone at the time. A shell fired by the shore battery caused slight structural damage, the navy said, but it is continuing in operations.

Capt. W. M. Landymore of Brantford, Ont., and Ottawa is the ship's commander. The enemy action was believed to have occurred several days ago.

So far the army has reported a total of 1,048 casualties in Korea, while the R.C.A.F., with only a handful of pilots actually in combat flying with American jet squadrons, has reported none. Of the army casualties, 188 have been reported dead, 777 wounded, 72 injured, 10 missing and one prisoner-of-war.

The naval officer killed was Lt. Cmdr. John L. Quinn, 29-year-old veteran of North Atlantic naval duty during the Second World War.

Surviving him are his widow, Grace, and a four-year-old son, both at Halifax.

Though these were the first casualties reported by the navy in Korea, there were three deaths reported previously. One seaman was reported accidentally drowned and two others were lost overboard at sea.

The list:

KILLED IN ACTION
Quinn, John L., Lt. Cmdr.; Mrs. Grace Quinn (wife), Armdale Post Office, Halifax.

Baikie, Elburne A., AB; Mrs. Bertha Chalmers (mother), 44 Picton Street East, Hamilton.

DIED OF WOUNDS
Burden, Wallace M., AB; Mrs. Frances Coulter-Burden (mother), Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

INJURED IN ACTION
Jodoin, Edwin M., AB; Alexander Jodoin (father), Toronto.
Gaudet, Joseph A., AB; Joseph A. Gaudet (father), Tignish, P.E.I.
Bergghen, Waldo, AB; Roland Bergghen (father), Newport, R.R. 2, Hants County, N.S.

LATE STOCKS

Stock prices held firm today in fairly active trading on Canadian exchanges.

Losses outnumbered gains by a slight margin in most sections of the market at Toronto but the index dip was less than a point.

Trading was slow at Montreal and Vancouver with an irregularly lower trend.

Western oils fared no better than Thursday, with a higher majority of losses than other groups. Base metals, however, improved. Industrials were mixed to steady.

Alcan May Clear Lake Of Debris

Minister Answers Chamber Criticism

Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers said today the Aluminum Company may undertake the clearing of timber and debris from sections of Tweedsmuir Park to be flooded by the huge development.

He was replying to a request from the Burns Lake Board of Trade, which wants the new government to force Alcan to do the work before the flooding takes place.

Mr. Sommers said the government's agreement with the company, framed by the former government, does not compel Alcan to do the work.

But, he said, Alcan has told the government it may "mine-sweep" the timber out after the flooding takes place.

This would involve a process whereby two tugs, with a cable between them, would uproot the trees and tow them to shore for disposal.

FOUR OR FIVE YEARS

Mr. Sommers said the government is hopeful Alcan will carry out the work as an operational expense in four or five years' time.

In the board of trade brief, presented to Premier Bennett and Mr. Sommers, Walter Wilson, highway secretary, said the late government took no measures to save "this great and beautiful park."

"We are now appealing to you to give serious and immediate consideration to this very grave matter," he said.

The board of trade found fault with Alcan's reported intention of dropping the whole project if forced to clear the land to be flooded.

"At Shishshaw, under similar circumstances, we understand the government of Quebec told the company that one of the terms of agreement would be that they must first clear the timber and debris, to which they readily agreed," said Mr. Wilson.

No Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 3 (Reuters) — No Nobel peace prize will be awarded this year, it was announced today.

Swedish scientist Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896, left a fortune to found a trust to award yearly prizes for those who have most contributed to the common good in the fields of chemistry, medicine, physics, literature and peace.

First awards were made in 1901. Last year's winner of the peace prize was Leon Jouhaux of France, trade union leader and head of the anti-Communist International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

Last year the prize was $322,000.

Scientist Thinks U.K. Has Best Atomic Weapon

PERTH, Australia, Oct. 3 (Reuters) — An Australian physicist who watched today's British atom test from the mainland, W. J. Mangini, said tonight the weapon "could have been a hydrogen bomb of the dimensions of a plutonium bomb."

Mangini said he believed British scientists had concentrated on producing "a more effective atomic weapon than the world has seen before."

Mangini, who watched the blast from here in an unofficial capacity, said:

"The shape and the rate of development of the initial smoke puff reveals a frightening blast velocity over an unusually wide area."

"The subsequent volume, turbulence and persistence of the atomic cloud indicated that immense energy was unleashed in a manner which ensured very high destructive efficiency."

He said the blast bounced 3,000 feet off the ground in three seconds, indicating the tremendous blast action.

Churchill's Bargaining Point?

ON SLOW, Australia, Oct. 3 (Reuters) — Britain's first atomic explosion today ripped a tiny slit in the veil of secrecy surrounding her atomic-weapons program. A British newspaper said it gives Prime Minister Churchill the "trump" he needs to reopen exchange of atomic secrets with the United States.

Guarded as zealously as a poker player's hand, the blast blazed briefly like a rising sun over the barren Monte Bello Islands, 85 miles off Australia's northwest coast. A ragged cloud soared swiftly to 6,000 feet, spread out until it was a mile wide in the centre, then rose to 12,000 feet and began dissipating.

A screened handful of newspaper men watched the explosion, at 8 a.m. local time (2.30 p.m. P.S.T. Thursday), that made Britain the third power known to have a working atomic weapon. They watched the historic detonation from a hilltop vantage point at Rough Range, 65 miles almost due south of the centre of the target area.

No United States observers were among those present. Britain barred newspaper men from outside the Commonwealth as part of a tit-for-tat security program started when the U.S. banned the exchange of atomic research information after the war.

The London News Chronicle says Churchill was thinking not only of military security when he imposed an edict of absolute secrecy over the test.

"He believes Britain knows a trick or two which the Americans would like to know. He wants to use it as a trump card in Washington to settle a long-standing grievance," the paper says.

"There is some reason to believe (that) theoretically Britain is as far advanced in research as any other country... now surely there can be no harm in sharing secrets."

The bomb itself appeared somewhat different from those exploded in U.S. tests. The shape of its cloud, instead of the familiar mushroom formation, was a ragged thunderhead that leaped a mile in a minute and then rose more slowly to 12,000 feet. A brisk wind bloated its belly to a one-mile width, and at the top hung a gigantic Z-shaped formation.

A heavy air shock struck the Rough Range observation point four and a quarter minutes after the explosion.

State Secretary Dean Acheson announced that Kennan, now in Geneva, Switzerland, will return to Washington for consultation.

"The government of the United States does not accept as valid the charges made by the Soviet government," Acheson said.

He supported Kennan and said that the Kennan remarks which served as the basis for the Moscow action "will be recognized in most parts of the world" as truthful.

Kennan, talking with reporters at Berlin, Sept. 19, compared the restrictions on foreigners in Moscow with those undergone by Americans interned in Nazi Germany after the beginning of the Second World War.

WINTER CALLS HIM HOME

Eskimo, Dying of TB, Escapes Sanatorium

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 3 (BUP) — A lonely Eskimo, sick with tuberculosis, penniless and probably starving, was sought throughout Ontario today after he left the mountain sanatorium in an apparent attempt to find his way home before he dies.

David Mikeyook, 50, is unable to speak English. If he had money, he wouldn't know what to do with it. The sanatorium said he was lonesome and wanted only for the winters of his native northlands.

He was brought down from the Great Whale River district of Northern Quebec last February when he was found to have tuberculosis. His case had been so advanced that until only a few

GEORGE F. KENNAN

Moscow Asks That Envoy Go Home

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — Russia today demanded the immediate recall of American Ambassador George F. Kennan.

The demand was made in a note terming him "persona non grata"—personally unacceptable—because of recent "slandering attacks" which Moscow said Kennan had made against the Soviet Union.

State Secretary Dean Acheson announced that Kennan, now in Geneva, Switzerland, will return to Washington for consultation.

"The government of the United States does not accept as valid the charges made by the Soviet government," Acheson said.

He supported Kennan and said that the Kennan remarks which served as the basis for the Moscow action "will be recognized in most parts of the world" as truthful.

Kennan, talking with reporters at Berlin, Sept. 19, compared the restrictions on foreigners in Moscow with those undergone by Americans interned in Nazi Germany after the beginning of the Second World War.

Two days ago, Mikeyook disappeared from the hospital. He has not been seen since.

Dr. John Neville said the man was likely dressed in a leather windbreaker and blue trousers. The only word he may know of English would be "sanatorium" which would not help him much.

It was the first time he had left the hospital and officials feared he may be wandering northward in hopes of reaching home and his friends once again.

Archie tells an engaging story about Robin Wood when Robin was a kid at the "Y." His present musical successes in Britain were only a dream then, but the youngster had talent apparent to anyone who heard him.

In the gym, waiting for a class to start, the boys would get Robin to play the piano. He'd sit on the bench, blow on the keys, blow on his fingers, rub his hands up and down on his shorts to improve circulation and then he'd play.

"I thought it was an act," Archie explains. "It was funny to see him warming up the keys and his hands. We all got a laugh out of it and Robin didn't mind."

The combination of talent and comedy potential appealed to the crowd and the "Y" worked up a stunt around it for the circus. Robin was a junior leader, keen as they come, and he went along on the deal.

As one of the turns, the boys used a piano, covered except for the keyboard, with tumbling mats to make an elephant. Front and back, on the floor, they put springboards. Robin sat at the piano and played. "But good," Archie says. And as the music flowed out Junior "Y" leaders went whipping over the piano and artist in a springboard routine. When his turn for a dive came, Robin would jump off the piano stool, race around to take his place in the tumbling line, soar over the instrument, land and return to his playing.

'If He Could Help...'

"He was that kind of a kid," Archie explains. "He didn't look an awful lot like an acrobat, but he was enthusiastic and willing. If he could help out in any way, he was ready to try. We thought a lot of Robin at the "Y." Still do. When I was in London at the '48 Games, he signed the register in Canada House the same day I did, but I couldn't locate him."

Maybe it's just one of my kinks, but the story gives me a pretty high impression of Robin Wood, whom I've never met. It furnishes a setting for the latest news I heard of him.

Robin has been getting good billing as a Canadian pianist in Britain. Some of the critics are more than enthusiastic. One liked his execution of a particular selection better than an earlier performance by Horowitz of the same work.

But if acclaim has had any influence on him, it hasn't changed the willingness of the former Esquimalt youngster to help out his friends.

Robin was one of the group of former Victoria College students to whom special appeals were made in the College's present campaign for memorial library funds.

Care for a Recital?

His reply to Harry Hickman's letter came quickly. "I have," he wrote in part, "started negotiations to see if I can get a donation through the sterling barrier. Whatever the result of these, and if my proposed Canadian tour materializes, would you be interested in a small recital whose proceeds went into the fund? I should be very happy to do this if it would be any help—the only thing is that I won't be there until about September, 1953."

Robin's negotiations to get a donation through the sterling barrier succeeded. The contribution arrived and the College people will be taking him up on the offer of a small recital.

When it comes to classical music, I'll admit I'm a Mortimer Snerd. It's over my head, like my hair—but more definitely. Still, for a guy like that, I guess I have a musical date sometime next September. It's childish, sure, only I'm going to like that concert whether it appeals to me or not.

Just possibly he may play some of the pieces that are familiar to me. If he doesn't, it'll be engaging visualizing an artist of his calibre as he once was, in gym strip, soaring over the piano in what acrobats call elephant routines.

Explosion in Oven Sprays Man, Boy With Hot Asphalt

When a can of hot asphalt burst and sprayed his face, 31-year-old Ted Stefane's eyesight probably was saved Thursday by his glasses.

His four-year-old son, Clifford, suffered minor body burns in the blast at their home, 847 Selkirk.

Both are reported in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital.

In the kitchen while Mr. Stefane was heating the boiler, a can of asphalt was being repaired, were Mrs. Stefane, their daughter, Elaine, 13, and a friend, Fred Traynor, 10. They were unhurt.

The explosion occurred about 6:25, shook the whole house and threw asphalt and flames all over the room. Esquimalt firemen put out the blaze, confining it to the kitchen.

One of the children noticed smoke coming from the oven. Mr. Stefane was trying to lift the container with a shovel when it exploded with a roar.

All were spattered, Mr. Stefane getting the full force of the blast in his face.

Neighbors rushed them all to hospital.

George Gilbert, 858 Selkirk, a neighbor, was an eye-witness. Elaine had opened the door to allow her father to carry the smoking can outside. Through it Mr. Gilbert saw a sudden sheet of flame, heard the loud explosion.

Riot Leaders To Be Paddled

Surly Oakalla Prisoners to Lose Privileges; Crowded Cells Blamed

By LLOYD BULMUR

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 3 (BUP)—Surly prisoners who defiantly sprawled on cell floors after a 2½-hour riot at Oakalla Prison Farm were ordered paddled today by a warden's court.

Special visiting privileges for the 90 inmates who staged the uprising were cancelled. Sixty-five insurgents were kept in the wrecked cells overnight and forced to sleep on the cold cement.

The others, mostly elderly, sick men, were transferred to the tower above the prison hospital. Warden Hugh Christie, who blamed overcrowding for the riot Thursday, meted out swift punishment to the mutineers, who went on a window and furniture smashing spree to protest an order that put two bunks in each cell of a wing designed for only 40 prisoners.

At a warden's court late Thursday night, he individually interviewed each of the 90 rioters and ordered the paddle for those who had refused to clean up the mess and had looted lazily in the wrecked cells. He did not specify the number to be paddled or the strokes they would receive.

"We are overcrowded," Christie admitted. "And we were obliged to put two bunks in each cell in one wing of the structure. The rioters wrecked furnishings in the south wing before being quelled when guards and extra details of Royal Canadian Mounted Police fired tear-gas bombs and turned fire hoses on them."

Inmates in the nearby women's quarters screamed and chanted while the men went on the rampage, greeting each sound of crashing furniture and breaking glass with hoots of derision for the guards.

The trouble arose over an order I gave allotting two men to a cell," the warden said. "We have nearly 800 prisoners and only 400 cells so there was no alternative."

Britain Pins Faith In Airway Merchant

There's nothing wrong with England that hard work and increased production can't cure.

In fact, England is looking to a "new light of prosperity" which will be brought to her on the wings of British-made aircraft.

These optimistic views are held by Hon. William Aitken, Nova Scotia-born member of the British House of Commons, who visited Victoria Thursday.

Mr. Aitken, a nephew of Lord

Beaverbrook, is general manager of the Daily Express News and Feature Service, and is one of the 225 client papers who subscribe to his syndicate.

"The fundamental cause of Britain's crisis is simply this: she had to sell up her overseas investments to pay for the war," he said. "These investments made to make up for a chronic trade deficit. With them gone, we have had to strip ourselves of capital goods to build exports."

"Our only solution, our only hope, is increase in productivity. Even a 10 per cent increase would solve our present problem."

EVIL INFLUENCE

The government's biggest worry, he indicated, was to convince the people they should work harder. "Against this is the debilitating influence of six years of Socialism, and 30 years of preaching Socialism," he said.

He believes the present division within the Labor party in England is because "many Labor members of parliament are Englishmen first, party men second."

Mr. Aitken admitted that the Conservative party was not popular in England at present. "The first thing we had to do was cut the food subsidies," he explained. "Our actions have been based on the long view, not on immediate popularity."

He represents Bury St. Edmunds in the British House. As a wartime fighter-pilot he was stationed near the historic spot where Magna Carta was drafted and after the war returned to contest the seat.

FUTURE IN AIR

He was also a civilian pilot before joining the air force, and is a firm believer in Britain's future in the air.

"Her lead in jet aircraft is an important industrial asset," he said. "We have the best fighter, the best bomber and the best civilian transport in the world."

"Britain's future is bright because it comes on wings aloft," Mr. Aitken moved to England in 1930. Previously he had worked with Canadian Press and the Toronto Telegram. He organized the Daily Express News and Feature service after serving with the air force from 1939 to 1946.

British Columnist, MacKay, Dies Suddenly

MORECAMBE, Eng., Oct. 3 (Reuters)—Ian MacKay, 54, one of Britain's best-known newspaper columnists, died suddenly here today after reporting the Labor Party conference.

He wrote for the Liberal London News Chronicle and was a personal friend of many leading trade unionists and politicians.

MacKay collapsed after responding to a vote of thanks to the press at the conference.

Indian Jailed For Life on Slaying Count

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 3 (CP)—

Archie Seneca today was sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Lydia Riley, one of three Muncey Reserve residents found shot to death May 11.

Seneca, 33-year-old father of six children, remained outwardly impassive as he heard the sentence. He was originally charged with murder but the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter.

Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson called the jury's manslaughter verdict "a very lenient and merciful view of the evidence."

He told Seneca "It will never be safe to allow you at large or give you an opportunity to renew a display of savagery which your crime disclosed."

Indictments charging Seneca with the murder of Herman and Beatrice Henry were laid over to the next Assize Court. Crown Attorney C. C. Savage said he will recommend they not be proceeded with.

THIS ISN'T AS SQUIRRELY AS IT SEEMS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 3 (AP)—A squirrel worked off and on all day Thursday to get a message across to Mrs. M. Gordon Hughes.

Mrs. Hughes said the squirrel barked furiously every time it saw her outside. She thought the animal was rabid. Finally, however, she decided the squirrel wanted her to follow it.

She was led to a rainspout in which the squirrel's mate was imprisoned. She freed the trapped squirrel, and the two animals ran away together.

Murderer's Father Collapses

TORONTO, Oct. 3 (CP)—Joseph Lessio, father of convicted murderer Steve Suchan, collapsed in court Thursday while under cross-examination by Crown Counsel Arthur Klein.

Lessio and his wife, Elizabeth, are jointly charged with harboring Edwin Alonzo Boyd and William Russell Jackson after their escape from the Don Jail here last November. Jackson and Boyd were convicted this week of bank robbery.

Thursday's session ended abruptly with Lessio's collapse and marked the close of the Crown's case in the trial. A native of Czechoslovakia with a limited knowledge of English, Lessio was being questioned about his statement that he did not know the two men were escaped prisoners during the time they stayed in his Toronto home.

Several women in the courtroom cried out: "Look out, look out, he's going to faint."

Lessio swayed back and then righted himself, his eyes staring and his body rigid. Assisted from the witness box, Lessio collapsed again.

Earlier in the day, Lou Herman, counsel for Lessio, drew admission from two Toronto detectives that Lessio had been arrested at his home on March 19 and held for four hours before being cautioned and then charged.

One officer, Detective Charles Cook, read into evidence over defense protests an unsigned statement attributed to Lessio. In it Lessio claimed his son Val Lessio, alias Steve Suchan, brought Boyd and Jackson to his home with out his knowing who they were.

Lessio claimed it was after the two had left the rooming house that his son, later convicted of killing a Toronto detective, told him they were escaped prisoners.

Carl Herman, acting for Mrs. Lessio, moved for a dismissal of the charge against her. But Judge Robert Forsyth ruled that the case must go to the jury.

SYNOPSIS—The pleasant fall weather in the prairies has ended abruptly. A southward sweep of polar air east of the Rockies dropped overnight temperatures to 20 degrees in the Peace River area. Strong northerly winds in the southern prairies this morning are bringing sharply dropping temperatures.

In British Columbia sunny weather still continues and the season of the year will be acknowledged by only slight lowering of the temperatures which have been running somewhat above normal.

Cloudiness will increase in the far northern coast Saturday as a disturbance moves into the Gulf of Alaska.

'Strong and Free'

EACH YEAR DURING NATIONAL Newspaper Week—now in progress—newspapers of this country invite their readers to look at the press as an institution, penetrating beyond the columns of type which daily present accounts of local, provincial and world-wide news, together with comment and features. Acceptance of that invitation has become increasingly important. In some nations the freedom of the press is being subjected to ever mounting pressures. It is vital that Canadians recognize that trend and share in the determination of Canadian newspapers to withstand such assaults against freedom of expression. In Canada, that liberty is generally preserved. Instances in which it is challenged—and the padlock law in Quebec is one of them—bring immediate and persistent defense from a free press which maintains its right to think as it wishes and to express its thoughts without interference, subject to the reasonable laws of the land and its own judgment. That newspapers here are supported in their stand is indicated in circulation growth during the last decade. While population has risen by 18.6 per cent since 1941, newspaper circulation on the national scale has increased 42.7 per cent.

In British Columbia, the figures are more striking. Population increased during that period by 42 per cent, newspaper circulation by 56.3 per cent.

Such figures record the confidence of the public in the newspapers that serve it. They show a clear indication of the readers' healthy insistence on "the right to know" what is happening locally, nationally and internationally. They reflect appreciation of the time, energy and ability that go into the production of a newspaper—a task jointly shared by everyone connected with its complex and expensive processes. They express recognition of the community value of the newspaper, its interest in church, cultural, civic, political and athletic fields.

Newspapers in this country are thankful for this approval of their services. They are not ignorant of their limitations—or their responsibilities. They welcome constructive criticism. But above all, they are grateful for a reading public which understands the vital function a free press performs.

On occasions such as National Newspaper Week they take the opportunity of restating these principles and assuring the public that they will be jealously safeguarded.

Stalin and the Crystal Ball

TO PREVIOUS PREDICTIONS that the "capitalist states" must inevitably succumb to economic disaster as a result of inherent defects in the profit system Premier Stalin has now added the opinion that their downfall must be accompanied by war—amongst themselves.

The pronouncements of the successor of Lenin are always interesting, both for what they say directly and for what they may be interpreted to mean. But they are not necessarily to be taken as the product of prescience. For to the hazards of mistaken assessment, human fallacy and wishful thinking must be added, particularly in dealing with Communist statements, the possibility of deliberate propaganda.

The latter may take two forms—that designed for foreign consumption and that for domestic. Both elements appear to be present in the latest communication from the Kremlin.

Premier Stalin's reference to world markets, for instance, may be taken as an attempt to bolster home support for Soviet economic policy as well as to warn the democracies of the doom to come.

Peoples as rigorously regulated in the use of consumer goods as are the Russians and their satellite populations in eastern Europe need frequent reassurance that the outside world cannot long maintain its prosperity. The living standards of the west, even in such countries as Britain and France which have still not recovered from the blows of the war, are far above that of Russia.

Under Communist rule are to be found the dearth of housing that forces several families to share not only a house but a single room, the government controls that keep the supply of clothing, foods and household goods at a bare minimum and luxuries almost non-existent.

The program is deliberate, of course. Heavy industry and armaments are being encouraged at the expense of goods the people could use for their comfort and convenience. But such a program must be sold repeatedly to a population that may become restive under the restrictions, which may begin to question the desirability of a system that denies it the benefits the despised capitalists appear to be enjoying.

For foreign consumption, the description of the world market as having become in reality two markets is a boast of success as much as a statement of fact. It is the central reason for the democracies' opposition to Russian imperialism (a type not included, apparently, in Stalin's denunciation of imperialism), for every country that goes behind the "curtain" is to a large extent lost as a customer for the west.

Each enlargement of the Soviet orbit lessens by that amount the field of commercial operations for the free world. The Communist ambition is to promote that process to the point where the democracies can no longer exist—the point where their sources of materials and their markets for products have been so restricted that their economic machinery will be wrecked.

To achieve that end, Stalin and company are willing to keep whole generations of their regimented people at a low living standard, denied the right to travel abroad and have knowledge of foreigners, forbidden the normal human contacts that should be enjoyed by every inhabitant of the globe. Whether he can so condition the human organism that it will continue to submit to such subjugation remains a question. On the probability of a negative answer rests much of the future hope of democracy.

Victoria College—Success of 50 Years

DURING THE NEXT TWO weeks the attention of Greater Victoria will be drawn with increasing emphasis to Victoria College, now entering the 50th year since its founding.

The functions of the College and the service it has performed since its modest beginnings almost half a century ago are well known and deeply appreciated by virtually everyone interested in education in this community. Through the college, originally affiliated with McGill University, and more recently with the University of British Columbia, advanced courses leading toward degrees have been made available to thousands of Greater Victoria students who have been saved excessive expense by pursuing first and second year work here.

That they have been fortunate in the standard of instruction and direction given to them is a matter of simple record. Not only has the parent university held graduates from the College in high esteem—an opinion justified by the accomplishments of those who have gone on to the University of British Columbia—but the distinctions of other students in the realms of higher learning, science and business provide ample evidence of the soundness of the training they received at Victoria College.

The institution is not old by comparison with some of the great universities of the world. Yet, at this stage of its life, present leaders are able to look back upon a highly satisfactory tradition and to look forward to a future of expanded usefulness.

In the course of its existence, the college has outgrown former physical shells. During the week of October 14 it will mark another stage of growth with ceremonies formally opening the new Dr. John M. Ewing Memorial Library and other events noting appropriately its place in the life of the community.

It is significant that the jubilee functions will be centred around the library, for which book funds are now being solicited from former students. The committee in charge has set as a minimum objective for that fund $5,000. Already, with the campaign scarcely under way, a quarter of that sum has been raised.

Here, again, appreciation is shown for the work of the College. Those who have received its benefits are acknowledging in practical form the debt they owe to the institution and to the men and women who have labored there as professors to win for it the stature it enjoys in the educational world.

Chips

By DAVID BROCK

CROSSING a border into one of the Rhodesias while on an African mining trip, a friend of mine waited patiently for the railway people to produce his baggage for customs examination. But it was soon found that the baggage had gone somewhere else. This was bad luck, since the journey couldn't very well be managed without some of the equipment. The customs man was helpful in one way, though. He decided to examine the baggage in its own absence. How's that for abstract art?

MY friend wrote: "The customs man was an Ulsterman who greeted me as a kindred spirit. He rushed my baggage through (purely hypothetical baggage), making merry quips about my flutes. 'No, we don't charge duty on flutes. Not if it's personal flutes. Now if it was bagpipes that'd be different. We'd have to charge you heavy for bagpipes. The only virtue in bagpipes is they don't smell.' Then there was great merriment over my pocket geiger-counter which is called a Super Sniffer. And my paint-box. 'Equipped for just everything, you are. Well, I've passed you. Now all you have to do is take it away.'"

"I SAID 'Fine! All I'd like you do is to tell me where it is. All this fine baggage you've passed so glibly.' He said 'Well, I'm not omniscient. But if I had that little Super Sniffer of yours we'd soon sniff it out.' Every official I interviewed said the same thing: 'Well, it doesn't often happen, but it CAN happen.' 'Cor lummie, I said, 'it HAS happened.' And they couldn't tell me if it had gone to Lusaka or Brazzaville or Livingstone. I suggested 'Fiji.' They said solemnly 'Oh, it wouldn't have gone as far as that.'"

JOHN Hartley, a Canadian correspondent at the Edinburgh Festival this year, sent home some glowing articles, full of praise for the Scots. As well he might. There is nothing like the Edinburgh Festival elsewhere. But he managed to convey the idea that the Scots had thought it up all by themselves. What they really did, and are doing, was to welcome the idea, and finance it, and keep on enlarging it. That shows imagination of the right sort. But the Festival itself was first imagined, and pushed forward, by a Vancouver woman, Audrey Mildmay (Mrs. John Christie), and it is high time she got some credit for it, here and abroad. Her husband wrote a letter to the Times (London) about it not long ago. He wrote modestly enough, but he wanted the bare fact recorded, as who would not?

HUNDREDS of our readers will have heard Audrey Mildmay in The Beggar's Opera and in Mozart's operas. Many of us treasure the Glyndebourne recordings of Mozart opera in which she sings so admirably. And we owe her a greater debt for the Glyndebourne Festival itself... she and her husband started it in their own home, where it still lives each summer. Their financial encouragement is only one of the many ways in which they keep Glyndebourne going and keep it perfect. They ARE Glyndebourne. But not many people, even in Britain, knew about Edinburgh's debt to her until they read Mr. Christie's letter.

HE wrote: "The publication of the Times Edinburgh Festival Supplement makes it desirable to give the authentic origin of the festival. In 1938 in Salzburg Mrs. Christie discussed the idea of a festival in Edinburgh. Touring The Beggar's Opera early in 1940 Mrs. Christie, while waiting for the tram in Edinburgh with Mr. Bing, suggested: 'What a place for a festival!' In the middle of the war Mr. Bing made an attempt to start a post-war festival in Oxford, but this came to nothing, so he suggested: 'Shall I now try Edinburgh?'"

WE sent him up to Edinburgh as Glyndebourne's man to see the British Council, the Lord Provost, and some of the leading citizens, who provided £20,000, and the festivals began. Mr. Bing came to Glyndebourne as our foreign agent when we opened in 1934. After two festivals he was appointed our general manager, the executive member of a committee of management of five. In fact, Mrs. Christie suggested the nature of the Glyndebourne Festival and the locus of the Edinburgh Festival. Yours, etc., John Christie.

FROM which one gathers that Mr. Bing, now of the Metropolitan, has been given a little credit as a non-Scott, and Mrs. Christie none at all. Let me repeat, for the benefit of Scottish readers, that I am in no way belittling Scottish imagination, generosity, and artistry, once Mrs. Christie appealed to those great qualities. I am simply pointing out that it was she who did the appealing, and that among the yearly, hundreds of applause she deserves a bit of a curtain-call of her own.

HUMANE IMPRISONMENT

AMONG all the cockeyed toys for children brought into my garden each day, the queerest one of late has been a pair of toy handcuffs. Naturally you must have handcuffs if you take a juvenile interest in being a crook or a cop. But these are devilish odd. Each half of the pair has a large glass ruby set into it. I suppose the Maharajah of Oronpore has plenty of platinum handcuffs with diamonds and emeralds stuck all over them as thick as candied peel on a cake. He has these made to show his contempt for ordinary prisoners, and also to annoy the prisoners who can't pick the gems out while handcuffed.

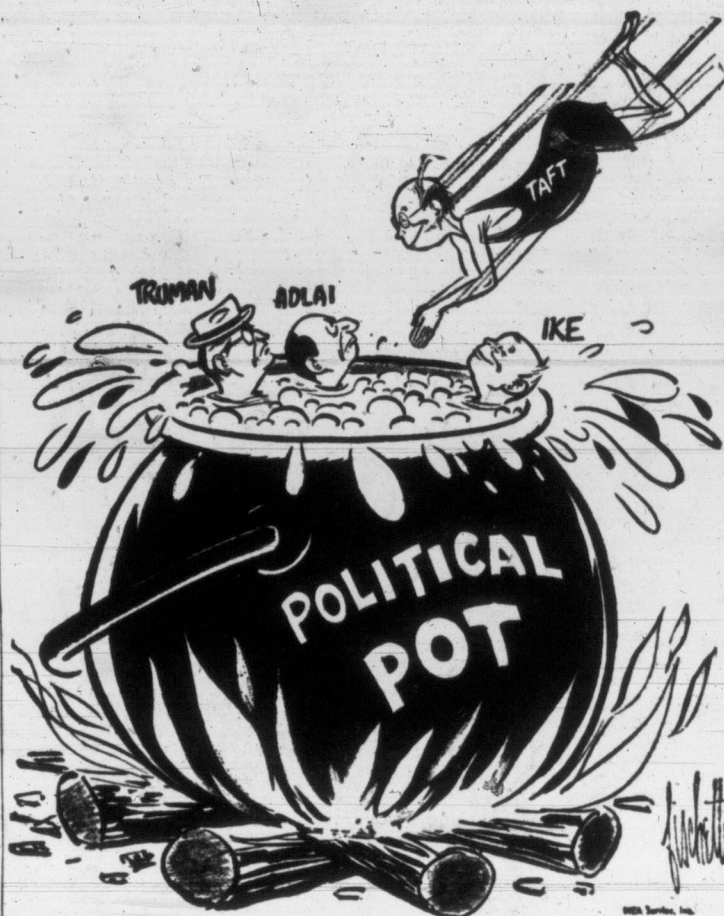

But I hadn't realized the need for jewelled handcuffs in North American crime. How about some gold knuckles instead of brass ones? And blackjacks filled with platinum, which is heavier than lead. Almost as heavy as my heart when I see junky and meaningless toys, designed for jackdaws.

DINNER ACCOUNTS

The opposition to the mayor by the three aldermen was because the mayor wanted to know more about these dinner accounts (entertainment)? Surely these aldermen should be able to buy their own dinners—entertainment by the taxpayers' money is getting far too frequent.

APPRECIATIVE VISITOR

As a visitor from Manchester, Eng. I have had the happy privilege of spending the last three months in your wonderful and beautiful city. Words cannot say how much I have enjoyed it. I am returning to England with many pleasant memories of the time spent amongst you, and I wish, through the medium of your paper, to thank the many friends for their kindness and hospitality shown to myself and wife during my too-short a visit amongst them.

TAKES DIM VIEW

I should like to say how much I agree with Miss Audrey Johnson in her contention that the York Theatre is in too dismal a part of town. It is also freezing cold. We have sat there on Sunday evenings in heavy coats shivering. It will cost the Little Theatre a fortune to heat it. They would be far better off using their money to enlarge their own nice little theatre and paying royalties on some modern plays. Even if they charge the same price as the movies and keep going all winter, I think the audience will not overflow their own theatre.

JURY EXHIBITION

May I express my opinion, and of others who think as I do on the subject, "The Recent Art Exhibit." Of course the authorities protected themselves by stating there would be no refunds, as each entrant had to pay $1. Out of 140 entries 40 were chosen, mostly modernistic. Those rejected, by well-known artists, were put in the spare rooms, not even hung up where people who had painted specially for this affair and paid to see could do so. The people from Nanaimo came down to see the exhibit to find all had been rejected.

Do the directors ever think of the effort, expense, etc., it means to enter. It is small wonder that the up-land verdict was "We will never go to the Art Centre in Victoria again." Is this what the Art Centre was given for? I am convinced the answer is no.

If the jurors wished to keep it so select why not advertise "Only modern art need apply?"

There are quite a few people who like beauty of color and the great outdoors, which was made so perfectly by our Creator. Do the moderns think they can improve on that? One hears from some artists, "Oh nature, what is that," yet there have been great artists who loved the simple things of life.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

I read in your Saturday's issue and heard on the air, remarks purported to have been made by Mrs. N. Hodges in reference to the Social Crediters.

The Anglicans have a prayer for "Those who profess and call themselves Christians," and the Bible states, "By their works ye shall know them."

What, if any expression of repentance has been made by the two old political parties for having led the people to the very brink of a calamity, from which only the valiant efforts of the Socials saved the country.

Could there have been greater condemnation than that handed the government, when Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Rolston walked across the floor of the House. Has Mrs. Hodges so soon forgotten?

Were the chocolates which some of the telephone girls received and the cases of liquor sent to the logging camps gifts from Santa Claus? Ask about the old major who each morning was given a bottle (not milk) to go along the Vancouver waterfront and pick up votes. How low indeed!

Forgiving the past let us press forward to a new era for B.C. in the knowledge that Parliament is not supreme and that God can still put down the mighty from their seats.

Pilots have said that flying a plane is a whole lot easier than driving a car. That's not so hard to believe when you think of all the things that can happen to a motorist at an intersection—which is a thing pilots don't even have to worry about.

The motorist protecting himself against crossroads catastrophe not only has to watch for stop lights and stop signs, he has to be sure the other fellow is obeying them too. He not only must make his own left and right turns correctly, he has to be sure the other fellow is doing the same.

The motorist not only has to watch out for other cars at an intersection, but for pedestrians as well. He must remember not to pass at an intersection and he must be on the alert for anyone who does.

All this just for an intersection—a thing pilots don't even have to contend with. No wonder you seldom hear of flyers becoming cab drivers.

Never Again He Says

By STEWART ALSOP From St. Louis

IT is amusing, and sometimes rather revealing, to try in the imagination to explain an American political situation, like that here in Missouri, to a European visitor.

W. Stuart Symington, formerly President Truman's Secretary of the Air Force, is the Democratic candidate for the Senate here. He won the nomination over the public opposition of the President.

"Then, of course, Mr. Symington is opposing the Truman administration?" "No, certainly not. You're getting it all wrong."

Symington is a close friend of the Republican candidate for President, Dwight D. Eisenhower. He deeply admires Eisenhower, and has consistently supported the international policies for which Eisenhower stands.

"Then, naturally, Mr. Symington wishes that Gen. Eisenhower will be elected?" "Heavens no. He is strongly supporting Eisenhower's opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson."

Throughout his Senate service, the Republican incumbent, Sen. James P. Kem, has bitterly and consistently opposed just about everything Gen. Eisenhower stands for. Kem even voted against the North Atlantic Treaty.

"Then, one assumes, Kem is opposing Eisenhower and Eisenhower is opposing Kem?" "Don't be silly. When Eisenhower was in St. Louis some days ago, he roundly endorsed Sen. Kem, and Sen. Kem is, as we say in this country, hanging onto Eisenhower's coat-tails for dear life."

It must be an unpleasant experience for a man of hitherto distinguished reputation to find himself simultaneously pictured as a blood-soaked war profiteer, a "gold-playing croony of Communists," and the chosen agent of British international bankers. These three charges against Symington provide typical examples of a political technique which is now widely practiced. The object of this technique is simply to confuse the voters, to raise "the big doubt" in their minds.

PHONY CHARGES

Symington sold his stock in the Emerson Electric Company, of which he had been president, when he entered public office. He did so in order to avoid charges of favoring his old company. But the stock had increased in value during Symington's term as president of the company—and so Symington is a war profiteer.

Symington is a crony of Communists, as well as a blood-soaked capitalist, because a Communist, one William Senter, once headed the Emerson union local. Symington, of course, never played golf with Senter. But, as president of Emerson Electric, he did deal with Senter on labor matters. Legally, he had no choice. Such fine points, however, do not concern Sen. Kem, and they are not likely to concern Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, whom Kem has invited to campaign for him in Missouri.

Symington is the stooge of British international bankers because he once rented a house from a British banker, one Sir William Wiseman. Wiseman is supposed to have selected Symington as his chosen instrument to "punish" Kem for his "pro-American" record. Actually, Symington never laid eyes on this "sinister figure."

This is enough to suggest the nature of Sen. Kem's special political technique. The whole business is amusing enough in some ways, what with Kem's remarkable agility in the attack, and the dashed condition of the novice Symington. But, as Symington says, "Win, lose, or draw, I'm through—this is the last time I run for anything."

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where we have another 'man without a country.' They get into the news every now and then—unfortunates who have got their lives tangled in international red tape and appear to be choking to death. They can't stay where they are and they can't go anywhere else. They're good prospective customers for a trip to the moon, but science isn't quite ready yet to handle them. This time it's a fella who's stuck on a ferry boat between Hong Kong and Macau, the Far East Portuguese possession. It seems he slipped aboard the boat without proper papers, hoping to get to Hong Kong. They wouldn't let him ashore there, and when the ferry returned to Macau they wouldn't let him get off there either. Now he's shuttling between the two places, and has been for the last three weeks. It's a free ride, but I guess he'd rather be a free citizen than a free passenger. Going up!"

"As a matter of fact," said the Elevator Man, "he isn't much different from a lot of other folks, though they'd be the last to admit it. We're all on the spinning globe, the ferry that takes us through life. We can't go back where we came from and only death can let us know where we're going. Meanwhile we shuttle back and forth, some of us in the first class cabins, some in the steerage, but all in the same prison-like fix. And the funny thing is that after we've been aboard a while we don't want to land. We postpone going ashore till the last minute we can. Even when the ferry wobbles and we suffer from global seasickness, we still struggle to keep our breath and look the other way when we hear the call, 'All ashore that's going ashore.' Our ferry boat is a fairy land, and we hate to leave. Lower main!"

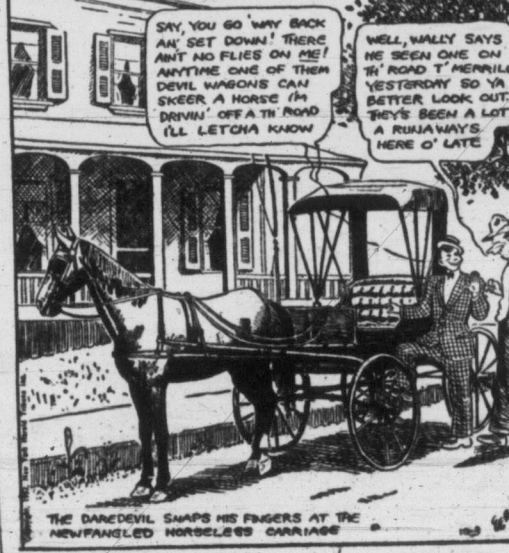

"Most of us," said the Elevator Man, "aren't even much interested in where we're going. We look at maps more for amusement than information. Like that lady in the Fairfield bus. She pulled out a map of Manchuria and began studying it. A fella next to her, heading home after a couple of hours at the Legion, got to worrying. 'Say lady, are you sure you're on the right bus?'"

Otto Brachat... retires after 69 years supervising production of the amber brew.

BREWMASTER RETIRES

Veteran's Taste Was Test Where His Products Sold

BY MONTE ROBERTS

Otto Brachat, a small, gnome-like, friendly man with a soft voice and a warm heart, closed the door to the brewmasters' office at Victoria Phoenix Brewery on Wednesday afternoon — and marked "the end" to a 69-year career. When Otto was 19 years old his father began to teach him the art of brewing, in the family brewery at Baden, Germany. Forty-three years ago he came to Victoria as brewmaster for the company which he reluctantly left yesterday. He looks, acts, and talks 20 years younger than his age. Perhaps it is his easy-going philosophy which keeps him young. "I do not wish to be glorified," he said. "I wish to always be able to do my duty, and to make a friend of my neighbor."

Hundreds of neighbors in Victoria will attest to the fact that Otto has succeeded in his objectives. In retirement, he will find "plenty to do." Yesterday afternoon, he and his oldest friend, Jim Elrick, made their usual Wednesday rounds of the "pubs" on the Island Highway.

For as long as Otto Brachat can remember, he has regularly checked up on his product. Now, he says, it will no longer be business which takes him on his rounds, just the companionship of the friends he has made. He and Jim have been close pals since 1911.

He is a keen and talented horse-shoe pitcher, a sharp crib player, a tough man to meet across the checker board. "Chess I play too," he says, "but in chess, there is too much thinking. Why should I think so much about chess when there are other things to think about?"

Mechanical advances and scientific equipment have changed the brewing art during Otto's long career. He can remember when the beer was cooled down by packing cakes of river ice around the huge casks; and a man had to stand by to stir the brew by hand as it slowly cooled.

COLD, HARD WORK
"It was cold work and hard work in those days," he said. "You worked 14 and 16 hours a day. And you worked! Now a brewmaster wears a white collar; then he wore overalls."

Breweries of other years had none of the gauges, controls and automatic devices which have brought precision to the art in modern times. Some breweries did not even own a thermometer.

"You put a finger in the brew, and you knew the temperature," said Otto. "If you weren't good,

RICHARDS MAY DIRECT GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY

Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd announced Thursday Percy Richards, his deputy minister, has been relieved of the position.

Mr. Richards was appointed deputy minister by the former government in July after serving for many years as executive assistant to former premiers John Hart and Byron Johnson.

There is a possibility Mr. Richards will head a new government public relations branch which would centralize and co-ordinate all government publicity and public relations work, Mr. Chetwynd said.

Communist Revenge Suspicions Stop Prisoner Exchange

Reasons behind the United Nations allies' unwillingness to exchange prisoners with the Chinese and North Korean Communist armies were explained by Director Reg Bowering of the provincial public health engineering division to an Optimist Club luncheon Thursday.

Recently returned from service in Korea, Mr. Bowering explained that on invasion of South Korea, Communists asked for "volunteers." Those who were unwilling to serve with them were shot. But some, realizing the price of refusal, joined the Red armies. When the opportunity came, they surrendered to the rescuing forces of the U.N.

On the island of Koje prisoners were held while screening proceeded. Trouble between true Communists and the forced "volunteers" was inevitable.

On the island of Chejo Do, Mr. Bowering revealed, Communist guerrillas have massacred 60,000 non-co-operationists.

The fate of non-Communist prisoners, returned on exchange to the North Koreans and their allies, would be certain and swift, Mr. Bowering fears.

City Embarrassed By Pledge to Help Chinese Playground

Ways and means to live up to a "gentleman's agreement" over financial aid for a Chinese playground will be sought by finance committee of City Council.

Committee found itself on the horns of a dilemma at a meeting Thursday.

By an old agreement the Chinese community spent about 10,000 on the playground, on the understanding that they would receive a grant up to the amount of taxes.

The money came from the mayor's fund in former days. Now there is no mayor's fund and the 1952 council cut out all charitable grants.

Lou Poy headed a delegation of trustees for the community. He said the playground was open to the public. It is understood the trustees will seek annual maintenance costs of $400 from the city.

24 Fishermen, 3 Ships Missing In Tidal Waves

TOKYO, Oct. 3 (AP) — Three ships with 24 fishermen were missing after tidal waves and high winds buffeted the shores of Hokkaido Island today.

Nine of the fishermen were feared drowned when their ships overturned. Fifteen others are believed adrift on the Pacific.

Eighty houses and 23 fishing vessels were damaged. The tidal waves were about 12 feet high.

The winds and waves were a result of a typhoon that passed between Honshu and Hokkaido Islands.

First General Frost Nips North Prairies Without Damage to Crops

EDMONTON, Oct. 3 (CP) — The first general frost of the season today nipped north-central areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The Dominion Public Weather Office here predicted that general frost will come to all of the two provinces tomorrow.

But the frost is not expected to affect too much those prairie grain crops still not harvested. In some areas farmers looked for a frost to kill off green growth which had been lowering crop grades. Threshing is much further ahead of the pace of the two previous years when early frost and snow disrupted the prairie harvest.

Yankees Brutal to Bums; Mantle Likely Series Star

IF YOU'RE BETTIN' IT'S 2-1 FOR YANKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP).—New York Yankees entered the third game of the World Series today as the 2-to-1 choice to win their fourth straight post-season baseball classic.

A shift to the Yankee Stadium for the next three games and Thursday's 7-1 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers shortened the odds on the world champions.

United Seeks Second Straight Soccer Win

It has not been definitely announced whether George Eade, Victoria United manager, will sing this week, but it is definite that United intends to duplicate last week's soccer program.

In the opening game of the Pacific Coast Soccer League here last Saturday, Eade treated the fans with a rendition of the United fight song, sung to the tune of "My Bonny Lies Over the Ocean."

Following that, United took the field and whipped Vancouver Firefighters 4-1 to make a successful opening in defense of their league championship.

Eade's vocal intentions for Saturday are unknown but after

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP).—The feeling remains strong that Brooklyn Dodgers would give the Yankees a fit if Joe Black could pitch every day.

As it is, manager Chuck Dressen's shocked athletes probably will do well to carry the series to six games. You do not recover easily from such a belaboring as Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Vic Raschi and their mates dealt out in the second game. It was brutal.

The score—7-1—was one-sided enough, but it "as more the manner in which the American Leaguers went about the execution, cold and merciless as ever when the big money is on the line. Raschi, as mean a looking pitcher as there is in the game, was humiliating in his mastery through the final six innings.

HURT IN FITTING
Down in their hearts, when it was over, the Dodgers must have realized that they were overmatched, that they had no chance of breathing their way out of their certain end to be betrayed by their shortage of really fine pitching.

The picture could change again today, of course. Preacher Roe, the Arkansas thin man, still is capable on occasion of pitching a whole of a game, and the deep expanses of Yankee Stadium are ideal for an oldtimer who leans heavily upon his outfielders.

But he will need some serious help at the plate, and the Brooklyn batters appeared to be mesmerized the last time we saw them. Easy Ed Lopat, the greatest of the dippy-doodlers, will do nothing calculated to bring them to.

Mostly Thursday night the talk was about Mantle. It was agreed that Martin the young second baseman acquitted himself well with the three-run homer which broke the game.

Anyone wishing to register for the course may do so the first night or at the school board of office, 1047 Joan Crescent.

Walter Gravelin and John Wren, pro and assistant pro respectively at Uplands will handle the Tuesday session from 7 to 8, with Joe Pryke, Gorge Vale pro, and Fred Burns, former pro at Colwood, in charge from 8 to 9.

Phil Taylor and Laurie Carroll, pro and assistant pro at the Victoria Golf Club, will be on hand Thursday night from 7 to 8, with Bill Court and Laurie Kerr, pro and assistant at Colwood in attendance from 8 to 9.

COULD BE 'COACH OF YEAR'—PATRICK

Eddie Gets Green Light

BY BILL WALKER

Owner Lester Patrick of the Cougars Hockey Club Thursday predicted that Eddie Dorohoy bids fair to becoming the "coach of the year" in the Western Hockey League.

Patrick wasn't pulling any punches or holding back any superlatives when he made the statement.

"I have no hesitation in stating that I think he (Dorohoy) will be the coach of the year," Patrick said while granulating a cup of coffee with sugar. "I'll go out on a limb on that one."

A sip or two later, Patrick, still speaking of Dorohoy, who this year replaces Roger Leger as Cougar mentor, intoned:

"His knowledge of the game and technique in coaching is anything as good as I've seen in some years.

"As far as the players giving out little bit extra in performance on the ice for him, that remains to be seen."

Lester was possibly referring to the inspiration Leger appeared to give the club in the previous two years, but if so, he made no mention of last year's pilot. Except, that is, to infer that Dorohoy's coaching of the club so far had left nothing to be desired from an owner's viewpoint.

Patrick also wished it be known that until final details are ironed out all members of the Cougars who are property of the Montreal Canadiens are subject to recall.

"This doesn't mean," he pointed out, "that three or four players are likely to be recalled at once as is often feared, but that fans understand the possibility of losing a player is apt to happen at any time if the parent Canadiens are in need of certain player to fill a certain position due to injuries or other cause."

Finally, just to punch home the point that Dorohoy is the boss and realizes the power at his disposal, Patrick revealed that a certain player—he gave no name—had been subjected to one of the best dressing downs by Dorohoy he had heard in some time.

NANAIMO WITHDRAWS

Four Teams in City Ice Loop

The Commercial Hockey League is back on a four-team basis today, following an executive meeting Tuesday night at which it was reported Nanaimo had withdrawn its proposed entry.

Nanaimo was unable to meet conditions stipulated by the C.H.L. executive calling for Nanaimo to pay Victoria clubs a percentage of Nanaimo gates, a minimum of $55 and a maximum of $125 being set.

It is believed high rental charges of Nanaimo Civic Arena are responsible for the Clippers' inability to meet the league proposals.

It is reported the Nanaimo arena is asking a $200 guarantee with a 50-50 split for anything more than the guarantee.

INTER-CITY PLAY

However, in spite of the loss of Nanaimo, the C.H.L. will still feature inter-city competition with the five-team Vancouver Commercial Hockey League.

Each Victoria team will play two games with Vancouver clubs, one at home and one in Vancouver. All points will count in the final C.H.L. standings.

It had been feared that Vancouver Wheelers, who were in the ill-fated Pacific Coast Senior League last year, were hooking up with the V.C.H.L.

However, Victoria officials have been notified that this is not so.

Bailey Seeks To Compete In Canada

LONDON, Oct. 3 (CP).—Emmanuel McDonald Bailey, Britain's brown blur of the running tracks, said today he hopes to get a chance to compete in Canada this winter.

"Canada is one of the few countries I've never been to, and I'd like very much to compete there," said the fleet-footed Bailey, who finished a close third to Brooklyn's Lindy Remigino and Jamaica's Herb McKenley in the 100-metre Olympic final at Helsinki.

Bailey said he has received an invitation to compete in Canada from Jack Davies, an official of the Canadian Olympic team.

Barnes Cops Greenkeepers' Annual Meet

L. Barnes of the Cedar Hill Golf Club fired a net 78 at Uplands Tuesday to retain his championship in the annual Greenkeepers' Golf Tournament, winning the H. Young trophy.

Barnes also won the handicap championship, taking the J. A. Sayward Cup. A. C. Smith of Victoria Golf Club was runner-up in the championship competition, and R. Gordon of Uplands took second in the handicap bracket with an 80.

Barnes won the putting competition to wrap up a near perfect day while C. Smith of Gorge Vale was closest to the pin.

George Chambers of Vancouver was the visiting winner and Uplands won the inter-club shield.

DICK ELLIS

BACK TO ADD his wealth of experience to the Oak Bay Wanderers' English rugby team is playing coach Dick Ellis. Ellis will be at scrum half Saturday when Wanderers, Island and playoff champions last year, meet Crusaders at 2:30 at Macdonald Park in the first game of the Victoria Rugby Union season. At the same time, on the lower field, J.B.A. and Victoria College Vikings will tangle in their first game.

Mazur, Kilburn En Route; Masnick, Irwin Possibilities

The 1952 Cougars of the Western Hockey League began to take the shape of the potential power which the name implies with the announcement that defenseman Stan Long was rejoining the club after a year in the American Hockey League.

Club general manager Fred Hutchinson disclosed the information only hours after the report that Eddie Mazur and Colin Kilburn, both left wingers, would be reporting to coach Eddie Dorohoy within a matter of days.

Long, as are all other members of the Montreal Canadiens assigned to the Cougars, will be on 24-hour recall from the parent N.H.L. club.

He played with Buffalo last year and is considered as probable N.H.L. material by his assignment to Victoria due to the recent agreement contracted between the N.H.L. and A.H.L.

Under that pact no player sent to the A.H.L. for seasoning may be recalled by N.H.L. clubs. However, the same rule does not apply between the N.H.L. and the Western Hockey League.

A former member of the 1950-51 Pacific Coast Hockey League championship 'Cougars, Long was a standout in his first year in pro ranks and narrowly missed winning the rookie award with the local club.

Kilburn was third high scorer on the Edmonton team last year with 31 goals and 37 assists for 68 points in 63 games.

The welcome addition of the trio, none of whom are expected to report in time for tonight's exhibition game against New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena, brings the Cougars' strength up to 16 men.

Further assistance before the start of the W.H.L. season against Vancouver Canucks next Thursday night is also expected, Hutchinson intimated.

He said that it is quite possible that Ivan Irwin, a husky defenseman, originally destined to be a Cougar, may yet join the team. Irwin is presently being retained by the Canadiens as a sixth defenseman.

Centreman Paul Masnick is another slated as a possible addition to the team.

Hebenton May Be Seen on Left Wing

Meanwhile coach Dorohoy will rely on the 13 men currently at his disposal for tonight's pre-season debut against the Royals, a game that is expected to draw a near capacity house.

Jerry Cotnoir will be in goal, that much is certain, while the defense chores will be divided between Ernie Roche, Don Webster, Florio Gogean and Bernie Strongman.

Roche, a member of last year's club, and Webster, who is attempting a comeback after a year's idleness, have been working together as a unit in practice drills, with Strongman pairing with Gogean.

Up front, puck fans are in for a change. Andy Hebenton will be seen in a new role, that of left winger, if workouts are any indication of future policy.

Hebenton has been working on a line with Dorohoy at centre and Jack McIntyre at right wing. Reg Abbott and Doug Anderson

Game time is 8:30.

Chuck Congden Leads B.C. Open Golf Field

VANCOUVER, Oct. 3 (CP).—Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, Wash., captured the first-day lead in the British Columbia open golf tournament at Shaughnessy Thursday by firing a three-under-par 69.

The long-hitting professional went out in 35 and came in with a 34 to carry a one-stroke edge over the field into today's second round.

Ever-shifting winds harried the field of 125 players and high scores were common.

The field will be sliced to 36 professionals and 18 amateurs for the final 36 holes Saturday.

Tom Ross of Vancouver posted a two-under-par 70 to finish one stroke behind Congdon and take the lead among the amateurs.

Deadlocked at 71 were professionals Dick Haskell of Seattle and Harold West of Pendleton. Ore. Bunny Mason, Leo Gaulcher, Bob McKendrick, Roy Heisler and Dave Dixon were bunched at 72.

Stan Leonard carded a 74, Freddie Wood a 73.

Lyle Crawford of Windermere, B.C. posted the second best amateur score with an even-par 72, one stroke better than Lyle Hurschman of Vancouver, Victoria's Hugh Morrison and Seattle's Paul Johnson.

Bantam Hoop Tournament Contract Forged

The way was paved Tuesday night for something unique in Victoria basketball circles. At a special meeting a working agreement was signed between the youth guidance committee of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the British Columbia Amateur Basketball Association to hold a boys' and girls' bantam basketball tournament in Victoria some time after Easter. Here B.C.A.B.A. representative Tommy Carson, centre, signs while Geoff Gwynne, left, Eagles boys' division manager, and Ernest Mottershaw, youth guidance committee chairman, look on approvingly.

On the OUTDOOR FRONT

By ROY THORSEN

Alan Coles, 2843-Austin Avenue, is one of those fellows who was born lucky. According to his pop, Jimmy Coles, Alan was fishing off Eaglecrest recently with a heavy rod out, also a light trout rod. The small one was not anchored very securely. A fish hit and carried the whole works ($30 worth) overboard and away.

Fifteen days later came the story that Doug Krog, Coombs, a commercial fisherman, had landed a trout rod... and as he hauled it in a coho gobbled the hook on the Tom Mack spoon to provide a two-in-one catch.

Poppa Coles finally managed to contact Krog and went up to look at the rod. He was sure it was son Alan's. Krog, however, wanted more proof of previous ownership before parting with it. He provided the maker's name. Well, Coles was pottering around in the basement the other day and uncovered one of those cardboard tubes rods come in. It had the same maker's name and Krog was satisfied with this evidence.

That kinda luck takes a bit of beating. Qualicum Beach was the real Island "hot spot" for fishing last week-end.

The Victoria angling colony moved in in strength and the score for the over-all angling crowd was: Every boat bringing in fish, nearly all in double-figure catches. Tom Merriman reports.

"The grise were like weeds in the garden and taking the lure so ravenously they were time-wasters for anglers after bigger ones."

Fishing is expected to remain good up there until the middle of October.

Victoria anglers on the invasion included Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer on a two-day visit. He reeled in 10 salmon. His only beef: "Grise so thick they are a pest; kept getting on the line when you wanted real fish."

A. Hundleby, retired principal of Central Junior High, and Mrs. Hundleby added to their season's string of fishing successes by setting a week-end speed record.

"In less than two hours' fishing they brought back nine in Qualicum waters, biggest nine pounds—just another 'good day' of many for Mr. and Mrs. H., who are obviously enjoying life to the full since his retirement," asserted Tom.

"I'd like to get a caravan so we could go gypsy-style to Florida and fish all over the country," he quoted Mrs. H. as saying.

Jim Chaplin got four springs there last Thursday. Fishing three days before the week-end with commercial licenses, Norman Taylor, George Wells and Jack Callow landed 50 salmon. They used the bucktail fly and spinner and two or three ounces of weight. Other small lures are being used.

Progress made in negotiations with Saanich farmers for a resumption of last year's farmer-hunter better relations plan for the coming pheasant season will be told members of the Victoria Fish & Game Protective Association in the Goldstream clubhouse Monday night at 8. Association members are committed to play fair on entering farmers' lands under the scheme. Lands involved are identified by signs.

Frank L. Beebe, Canada's outstanding illustrator of wild life, and an outdoors expert, will give members an interesting talk on wild life. Members are invited to bring a friend.

Co-Operation Sought With Banded Birds

Pheasant hunters are asked to co-operate in the matter of banded pheasants this season, starting October 16. The game department and fish and game club members released 1,000 banded birds in outlying areas. Hunters successful in getting these targets are asked to turn over information to the game office (Elliot Street) as to where shot and other details to help aid scientific investigations.

Anglers in the Sooke Harbor area have been doing fairly well lately. Harry Young picked up two coho in the waters out from the traps recently.

Jack Harris reports Ted Davis reeled in half a dozen trout in Dougan Lake (Cobble Hill) one day this week on the fly. Evening fishing on the fly is picking up in Shawnigan Lake, he says. Jack Gray and Rod Smith got 13 between them on a recent visit.

BILL MOE DRAWS RELEASE FROM STAMPS

CALGARY, Oct. 3 (CP)—Bill Moe, former New York Ranger defenseman, has been released by Calgary Stampers of the Western Hockey League to enable him to take a playing-coach position. Moe, who played with Stampers in the former Pacific Coast League last season, now is dickering with the Troy, N.Y., team of the Eastern Amateur League. He also has had two other playing-coach offers.

Former Regina Gridder In Navy Garb Saturday

After an absence of one week since its official league opening, Canadian football booms back into prominence at Heywood Avenue Saturday at 2 when Royal Roads peels off the wraps from its 1952 model of the league's champions.

Tackling the league's newest entry, the Royal Canadian Navy team, reported to be still smarting from its defeat at the hands of the Vampires, the cadets are understood to be coming up with another powerhouse, like the one that passed, punted and plunged to the top of the league for the past two seasons.

The Royal Roads aggregation has never been defeated in league play.

Some of the cadets remembered by Victorians from other years will include Ross Rayment, a back, an excellent broken-field runner and one of the top athletes at the college; D. A. P. Smith, small, but with terrific drive and a shifty runner; ends Douglas and Standen; cool, efficient quarterback Scott Price; 200 pounds guard Wallace and tackle Wark.

With two weeks to practice, however, since their defeat by Vampires, Navy is reported to have cleaved up most of the fundamental errors that caused their downfall at the hands of Ray Mitchell's crew. With players like speedy ex-English rugby star Dave McKenzie, Archie Langston and company, the sailors may explode with the power they have, but they haven't shown as yet and torpedo the cadets from Royal Roads.

Gridders at 'If' Stage

When the grandstand quarterbacks gather to talk football in the east these days, they usually start the discussion with a big "if." In the west, it is "when."

Which is by way of saying that this is the time of year when the question of playoffs in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Unions is very much in the air. The westerners have set a definite pattern and it is just a matter of time before they separate the men from the boys.

In the Big Four, things are a lot different. It seems that everything depends on the outcome of the big ones coming up.

CRUCIAL GAMES For instance, if Toronto Argonauts get past Ottawa Rough Riders at Ottawa this week-end it will just about clinch a playoff spot for the first-place double blues. If the 1951 Grey Cup champions break the jinx and defeat Toronto for the first time in two seasons the situation would be a trifle tense.

And if runner-up Hamilton Tiger-Cats hand the luckless Montreal Alouettes their sixth straight loss of the season, you can just about count coach Doug (Pease) Walker's boys out of it when the two-team post-season series starts.

There's another "if." If the Alouettes break loose—and they are overdue—and smack the Tiger-Cats on their black and yellow pants and Riders hand Argonauts their first loss of the season (a possibility) the standings will be in a real jam.

BOMBERS HOME FREE

Consider the situation in the west. The rampaging Winnipeg Blue Bombers hold a four-point lead over Edmonton Eskimos and the way they are operating they should hold it or lengthen it before the schedule winds up Oct. 18.

The Roughriders, six points behind the Calgary Stampers, have only a bare hope of catching up in the remaining five games.

It's another doubleheader week-end in the west games at Calgary and Edmonton Saturday and Monday. Blue Bombers meet the Stampers and Eskimos in that order and Regina plays first at Edmonton and then at Calgary.

Ailsby Arrives

SEATTLE, Oct. 3 (BUP)—New Seattle Bomber hockey coach Lloyd Ailsby checked in at the Seattle hockey team's headquarters Thursday.

Ailsby said he hardly knew the boys by their first names yet, but from what he had seen, the team looks "pretty good." The Bombers will head for Penticton on Friday with a 10-man squad for an exhibition game with Vancouver.

Travis Brothers Join Civil Service

Australia isn't the only place having atomic weapons tested on it. Civil Service will try their newest atomic powers, namely, Joe and Ab Travis, to attempt to break the three-way deadlock for first place in the Victoria and District Soccer League Saturday. The announcement the Travis brothers would try Civil Service uniforms for size came as a minor earthquake to managers and players of the other teams in the league.

Joe Travis has signed as a spare goalie as he is not interested in playing regularly since he coaches a juvenile club, however, Ab Travis, who played with New Westminster Royals in the Dominion Cup series, will hold a starting berth.

Service will be the team to beat, confides manager Bob Bell. At present Civil Service, Legion and Victoria West are in a three-way deadlock for the No. 1 spot.

Civil Service will tangle with Heaney's at Windsor Park on Saturday at 2.30, while Legion and Canadian Scottish will meet Sunday afternoon at Athletic Park.

Marion Davies Throws Gay Party

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3 (AP)—Marion Davies tossed the gayest Hollywood party in years Thursday night and early today—so gay that even crying Johnny Ray, the guest of honor, spent most of the night laughing. More than 1,000 of Hollywood's elite flexed their social biceps and drank champagne in the famed film queen's spacious Beverly Hills mansion.

The guest list read like the 1952 edition of a Hollywood Who's Who. Some of them were: Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cooper, Joan Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Red Skelton, Denise Darcel, Mr. and Mrs. Spike Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Kaye, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, Lana Turner, Barbara Stanwyck and many more.

The Cadillac was stacked bumper to bumper for a mile getting into the Davies estate. Three bands furnished dance music. Miss Davies and her seafaring husband, Capt. Horace Brown, received the guests side by side.

The party cost more than $35,000, according to an estimate made by one of Miss Davies' aides. The party honored Ray's opening Saturday night at Ciro's nightclub.

NOTICE

TO ALL B.C. CITIZENS

On September 26, 1952, changes in the B.C. Hospital Insurance Regulations concerning dependency were announced. The following B.C.H.I.S. regulations outline who may be claimed as a dependent of a "head of a family."

- An unmarried person over 15 years of age and under 19 years of age who is mainly supported by the head of a family and over whom, in law or in fact, the head of a family has complete custody and control, whether exercised jointly with another person or not, or
- An unmarried son or daughter, brother or sister, over 18 years of age and under 21 years of age who is mainly supported by the head of a family and a student at a secondary school, university, or other educational institution recognized by the Commissioner, or
- An unmarried son or daughter, brother or sister, including a son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law or sister-in-law, over 18 years of age who is financially dependent upon the head of a family by reason of physical or mental infirmity, or
- A parent, parent-in-law, grandparent, or grandparent-in-law who is financially dependent on the head of a family.

It should be noted that special application to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service is required to list dependents as outlined in sections "d," "e" and "f."

Students Plea
For Cheaper
Bus Fares

By BILL BROADLEY

Why shouldn't Victoria College students be allowed cheaper bus fares while travelling to and from school by B.C.E. buses?

The question will be asked of officials of the bus company by a delegation from the College Students' Council.

Support from U.B.C. and Normal School groups in their bid for the five-cent fare allowed high school students. Instead of the ordinary 10-cent adult fare, will be sought by council secretary, Francis Appleton.

'An Evening With Bea Lillie' Claimed Enchanting Indeed

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—It was something like a coronation reception as Beatrice Lillie tripped off the stage of the Booth Theatre Thursday night after the opening of her revue, titled "An Evening with Beatrice Lillie."

Reginald Gardiner is there for male relief, but it is the Toronto-born Miss Lillie who dominates the evening. It is what might be called her personal history.

It is an enchanting show because Miss Lillie is an artist who needs neither script, performer nor director to be her enchanting self. What she did Thursday night is an effervescent show, but it is all Miss Lillie.

When Miss Lillie was on stage, the show was diverting. In one sketch, "A Star's First Night," she bounces backstage of the first performance of a show to congratulate the star, a friend of hers.

The star, apparently, had achieved a triumph. Miss Lillie's comments about the star's make-up, appearance and performance ended with the star about to murder the intruder. But, quite funny.

Food Depots Await Donations to Stall

Food depots have been established at the Black Swan Coffee Shop, Elk Lake, and Prospect Lake Store for persons wishing to contribute to the free food stall at the City Market, Mrs. Barbara Green said today.

Large amounts of fruit and vegetables have been donated, she said, and have been preserved by volunteers using sugar given to Mrs. Green's project.

Gifts included 300 pounds of tomatoes from the Dominion Experimental Farm that are now being canned by volunteer helpers, she said.

Mrs. Green said she will continue to contact farmers for surplus food suitable for canning in order to maintain stocks through the winter months.

U.S. Moves To Tear Out 'Crime Roots'

Will Deport 100 Foreign Racketeers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (UP)—The Justice Department moved swiftly today to carry out Attorney-General James P. McGranery's plan to "tear out the roots of crime" in this country by deporting some 100 foreign-born racketeers.

A department spokesman told reporters "quite a few" of those on McGranery's black list will be picked up for deportation "in the next few weeks." He said that denaturalization proceedings would be started against others soon.

McGranery announced his long-range program to a jam-packed press conference. He said the drive was designed to rid the nation of foreign-born racketeers and gamblers—"unsavory characters"—and of alien Communists.

He linked the program to his recent decision to seek the denaturalization of Frank Costello, New York gambling kingpin now in prison, and to bar movie actor Charlie Chaplin from re-entering this country unless he satisfies an immigration hearing that he is admissible.

McGranery declined to identify any of the 100 persons slated for future denaturalization or deportation. But he said they were all in the criminal category—not the subversive.

Northwest Printers Banquet on Sunday

Annual one-day meeting of the Northwest Printing Trades Conference, representing printing craft unions, will be held Sunday at 10 a.m., at the Crystal Garden.

About 50 delegates are expected from Victoria, Vancouver, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland. President Jack Rudloff of the Portland pressmen's union will conduct the meeting.

Speaker at the evening banquet will be George Wilkinson, labor representative on the Labor Relations Board.

Scoutmasters Meet Man Who Modelled Uniforms

A familiar figure stepped out of the illustrations of the Official Boy Scout Catalogue last Thursday to address a gathering of Victoria scoutmasters.

George Ferguson, Ottawa executive commissioner for Boy Scout stores, was instantly recognizable to even those Scouters who had never seen him in person before. Three generations of Scouts have thumbed through the annual sales publication to check with personal pictures of Mr. Ferguson in immaculate attire before ordering their uniform accoutrements. In recent years models for both Cub and Scout clothing have been his sons.

Thirty-two years in the movement, Mr. Ferguson observed that the basic Boy Scout uniform is still the same as that first designed.

Canada's 140,000 Cubs and Scouts, whose numbers are steadily increasing, are supplied through 50 agency stores. Efforts are now being made to standardize the shirt color to green although Lord Robert Powell, famous originator of the organization, at first allowed an option of grey, green, blue and khaki.

"Victoria Scouts, especially, take second place to those of no other city in the matter of smart uniforms," Mr. Ferguson observed. He is on a tour of agency stores throughout western Canada.

Purchase of New City Fire Truck To Be Recommended

Purchase of a Kenworth fire truck chassis from R. Angus Ltd. at $15,846, will be recommended to City Council by finance committee.

It was the lowest tender received by committee Thursday, which filled the necessary requirements.

Committee approved purchase of 87 uniforms from Gordon Campbell Ltd. at $5,374 and 174 shirts from Hall & Co. at $654; fire alarm boxes from Northern Electric Co. at $1,230; an auxiliary lighting plant from Edward Lipsett Ltd. for $799.

Contracts for demolition were awarded to Max Miller for 2145 Spring Road on a bid of $150 and for 615 St. Charles on a bid of $200; to Roger C. Paget for 196 Memorial Crescent on a bid of $238.

Lack of a warning sign on a city project more than a year ago cost the city $1,530 in judgment, medical costs and court costs, following an accident to a young city boy. The boy fell into an open ditch.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

There were some very charming hats for milady advertised in the papers this week. One of them has a sky-reaching feather obviously influenced by TV antenna, and others droop down around the cheeks like a Salvador Dali soup bowl.

It is hard to understand why the ladies, who look lovely when they leave themselves alone, go gaga over such creations.

Unless they are looking for hats which will never go out of style, but will continue to look ridiculous year after year.

It would appear that ladies who buy hats refuse to let their opinions be swayed by judgment.

English cars are very popular in Victoria, but I often wonder what would happen if you took yours into a service station and said:

"I left the keys in the cubby locker. Will you open up the boot and clean it out, then check the dampers and the silencer, and see what goes on under the bonnet?"

It is likely the mechanic would demand a translation—glove compartment, trunk, shock absorbers, muffler, and hood.

You hardly ever realize how foolish it is to stay up all night until it dawns on you the next day.

Parents with school-age children sometimes have difficulty in understanding the modern method of marking report cards. A mother in New York, however, was pleased to note that her child's rating for "co-operation" had improved.

Instead of "Unsatisfactory Plus" it was given as "Satisfactory Minus."

I always enjoy the way business editors view the changing stock market picture, and will submit that you'd have a tough time improving on this recent analysis:

"The market has been looking sober to sour for some time on the notion that we are slowly but surely being sucked into the maelstrom of peace, which would mean a great blow to the inflationary boom."

A blow like that, we could stand.

A constituent has suggested that a built-in record-player rigged to the speedometer in all automobiles might cut down on the accident rate.

As the speedometer moved around the dial, the following songs and hymns would be played:

- At 45 miles per hour "Highways are Happy Ways."
- At 55 "I'm but a stranger here, heaven is my home."
- At 65 "Nearer my God to Thee."
- At 75 "When the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there."
- At 85 "Lord, I'm coming home."

Victoria merchants are "losing too much business" because of existing parking meter conditions, Mayor Claude Harrison said today.

"We need a better solution," he said. "The people are going to the outlying municipalities to shop."

The mayor has long favored a number of two-hour meters rather than one-hour machines. He has also expressed opposition to the new meters in some sections. He believes they are valuable in front of the Post Office.

The matter will be discussed at the next police commission meeting, he said.

Intelligence system has the coverage and speed of operation that you have.

The officer was quite correct. The news services that deliver up to 40,000 words daily to the Times office via their teletypes—Canada Press and British United Press—use their own far-flung networks of correspondents and member papers to keep readers up to date on world developments. They also have the whole production of Associated Press, Reuters, and United Press to edit daily for transmission.

A lesser known but equally important service given by newspapers in their treatment of the news is "background." To every major development in the news there is a long history of trial and trouble that would require too much valuable wire time to transmit.

This, then, makes up at least half of the mass of material received in every newspaper office each day by mail from a number of news syndicates.

The other half is made up of pictures of personalities in the news, important events, and other newsworthy subjects.

These same services also provide several daily and weekly columns, such as "The Doctor Says," and the widely-read women's page features—by Elizabeth Hurlock and Josephine Lowman.

SOCRED'S BANKING PLANS SUSPECTED

Treasury Branch Scheme Feared Costly If Operated by Government in B.C.

By BURKE CAHILL, Times Business Editor

The B.C. Social Credit government's proposed introduction of Alberta-style treasury branches announced Thursday by Premier Bennett would be costly to the taxpayers of B.C., Victoria bankers agreed today.

Alberta's string of treasury branches, which is in effect a system of government-owned-and-operated banks, is hardly a paying proposition, it was claimed.

The government "banking" system in Alberta must be operating at a loss, one local banker, who used to manage a branch at Edmonton, said. "Any citizen who cares to look at the public accounts of the Alberta government can see that," he added.

He explains it this way: In the foothills province, the Social Crediters operate 45 treasury branches, 14 sub-branches and 196 agencies. As of Dec. 31, 1951, according to Alberta's public accounts, there were 56,502 depositors who put in a total of $32,030,139. Loans at the same time were $18,555,917.

The government pays interest on over $32,000,000 at about 1½ per cent while getting income from loans of less than $19,000,000 at an average of 5½ per cent. The earnings from loans must cover all expenses. They must pay for upkeep of the buildings, salaries and operation of all the branches, sub-branches and agencies.

It just can't be done in the opinion of the local bankers.

A "cash order" is the treasury equivalent of a cheque. Two types of savings accounts are used: "demand savings" from which funds can be withdrawn at any time on interest of 1½ per cent is paid, and "term savings" in which deposits are left for a minimum of one year and on which interest is paid at 2 per cent.

It is claimed interest charges on treasury branch loans are the lowest obtainable in Canada.

Liberal M.L.A. Challenges Graft Charges

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria M.L.A., today challenged Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black to prove his charges about dishonesty in the former provincial government.

"I intend to bring this matter up on the floor of the House at the next session. I'll demand an apology for the minister's insinuations," said Capt. Proudfoot.

At a recent Sidney meeting, Mr. Black was quoted as saying: "To say we have had an honest government is one of the greatest misuses of the word 'honest' I have ever heard."

Capt. Proudfoot said the public is "fed up" with the innuendos and charges of dishonesty.

"I challenge Mr. Black to prove that he found dishonesty on the part of any minister or member of the last government."

"He will have a real opportunity of collecting a number of votes for his party during the coming by-elections by giving names of persons who have been dishonest and citing instances."

"I know he won't do any such thing, but I'll see that this matter is brought forward on the floor of the House, and I'll demand an apology," declared Capt. Proudfoot.

Court of Appeal Holds Forger's Friend Innocent

Governed by earlier court decisions that merely standing by without interfering does not constitute aiding and abetting a crime, even though the spectator knows the intention of the evildoer, B.C. Court of Appeal today quashed conviction of Lawrence Creanza, who was sent to jail in September for participating in the passing of a forged cheque.

Creanza, 21-year-old Vancouver man, will be given his freedom as a result of the Appeal Court's judgment. He had been sentenced to a year at hard labor.

That sentence was imposed by Magistrate W. W. B. McInnis, in Vancouver Sept. 3.

Creanza was convicted after he was identified as being with a man who passed a forged cheque in a Vancouver beer parlor. The bad cheque, for $76.43, bore the same number as a good cheque which Creanza had received two days earlier.

Alert Pedestrian Spots Fire Danger

A woman pedestrian saved the Model Metal Furniture Co. Ltd. building at 926 Fort Street from possible destruction by fire at 9:33 Thursday night.

Passing the building, she saw flames through a window and stopped a motorist to call firemen.

"They were quickly on the scene and found a fire going in some cardboard packing in a back corner. It was quickly extinguished."

Kenneth A. McLeod, manager, said damage was small.

GORDON CAMERON

Socreds May Get Veteran Tory Recruit

Gordon Cameron Says Mind Not Made Up

Victoria lawyer, Gordon Cameron, one of British Columbia's top Progressive Conservatives for years, may bolt the party and join Social Credit ranks.

Queried today on current reports that he intends to switch political affiliations, Mr. Cameron said:

"I haven't made up my mind what I'm going to do. I've been just sitting back on politics, and have been inactive for a year. I certainly haven't joined Social Credit."

Mr. Cameron is an immediate past president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association, and was an unsuccessful candidate in Victoria in the federal election in 1949. In that contest he received 10,154 votes against R. W. Mayhew's 19,324.

There have been persistent rumors that Mr. Cameron wants to remain a Conservative in the federal field, but join Social Credit provincially.

This, according to a Socred spokesman, is impossible under the Social Credit constitution. To join Social Credit, a person must "renounce all allegiance" to any other party.

The provincial government recently appointed Mr. Cameron Crown prosecutor for the Fall Assizes.

Last Conservative to join the Socreds was Ald. Waldo Skillings who is expected to be a candidate in the provincial election next summer.

Earl Pollock, a former Liberal association official, also has joined the Social Credit party.

Councillor to Urge Appeal in Wheaton Case

Councillor G. S. Eden said today he will recommend that Saanich council appeal the judgment of Magistrate H. C. Hall who dismissed a charge against Victoria contractor George Wheaton of violating a Saanich by-law.

Wheaton was charged with failing to possess a building permit in connection with the construction of the new library wing at Victoria College.

In handing down the decision, Magistrate Hall noted that public schools were not included in a lengthy list of types of buildings covered by the Saanich building by-law, under which the municipality collects its building permits. He concluded from this that no building permit was required for school construction.

Councillor Eden said the validity of the by-law was being tested.

As a result of the judgment, he said, there was a danger that the municipality would have to reimburse monies paid by contractors for permits to build public buildings in Saanich.

It is expected that Mr. Eden's recommendation to the council at a meeting tonight at 8 will be the subject of a lively discussion. Some councillors are reported to be against appealing the decision.

Yates Street Rowdy Convicted in Court

Police Chief Warns Hoodlum Gangs Public's Obstruction Will Be Stopped

Young toughs involved in the newest flare-up of rowdiness on Yates Street got a broadside from the city police court today.

Following a lengthy trial, Edward James Minnie, 23, no fixed address, was found guilty on a charge of loitering and obstructing the public on the south side of Yates, between Blanshard and Douglas on Sept. 27 and was fined $25 by Magistrate Henry C. Hall. Charge was laid under the Criminal Code sections dealing with vagrancy.

Minnie and two companions appeared on the stand and claimed that Constable James Baxter's testimony on how they walked abreast forcing the public to move around them was "a lie."

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was imposed, the curly-haired accused insisted "What we said was the truth."

Minnie was allowed until Saturday to pay the fine.

Accused was arrested after the constable said he had ordered the group of youths to "move on" twice on the night in question.

Magistrate Hall, in summing up, noted that the testimony of defense witnesses, Roy Knowles and Roy L. Connibear, did not match up—"and therefore was not reliable."

The magistrate pointed to defense witnesses' own statements that Const. Baxter had run across the street to check them.

"That is the normal way for a constable to conduct himself when he sees a situation that demands his presence. I'm satisfied the officer correctly described what he observed," said Magistrate Hall.

"We will continue to hit hard in these trouble sectors to stamp out this rowdiness by the younger generation, and where necessary bring others before the courts," said Chief of Police John Blackstock, following the hearing.

"I hope this will serve as a warning to others," he added.

Minnie, who took the witness box in his own defense, claimed Const. Baxter asked him: "Why aren't you in Chinatown? You shouldn't be up here among decent people."

Minnie and his witnesses identified the fourth member of the group as a young man known as "Shine" Moss.

ASK The TIMES

Q. What is the origin of the phrase "He builded better than he knew"? H.G.C.

A. Stanza 2 of Ralph Waldo Emerson's poem "Each and All."

Q. When was the Victoria Times first published and can copy of same be seen in Victoria? F.A.B.

A. No. 1, Vol. 1 of the Victoria Daily Times was published June 9, 1884. A copy is on file in the Times library, Victoria Press Building and can be inspected there.

Q. How do I dry gourds for ornamental purposes? J.M.

A. Harvest ornamental (soft shelled) gourds when fully ripe, and place in warm, airy room out of sunlight to dry. This will take about two weeks. Apply a good coat of liquid wax. Frost will cause decay. The hard-shelled varieties may have withered. Should frost threaten before this type is ripe, remove fruit with stem attached and hang for curing as above.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

Soldier Says Papers Have Finest Intelligence System

By DON INGHAM

Just a few days ago a Times reporter called an officer in one of the armed services here for confirmation of a defense development announced in Ottawa.

"Don't ask us," the officer said. "You have more information than we have."

"How's that?" asked the reporter.

"Because you fellows in the newspapers have the best intelligence system in the world," he was told.

"Every day you are given reports of incidents occurring in every portion of the world, just minutes after they happen," the officer continued. "No other intelligence system has the coverage and speed of operation that you have."

The officer was quite correct. The news services that deliver up to 40,000 words daily to the Times office via their teletypes—Canada Press and British United Press—use their own far-flung networks of correspondents and member papers to keep readers up to date on world developments. They also have the whole production of Associated Press, Reuters, and United Press to edit daily for transmission.

A lesser known but equally important service given by newspapers in their treatment of the news is "background." To every major development in the news there is a long history of trial and trouble that would require too much valuable wire time to transmit.

This, then, makes up at least half of the mass of material received in every newspaper office each day by mail from a number of news syndicates.

The other half is made up of pictures of personalities in the news, important events, and other newsworthy subjects.

These same services also provide several daily and weekly columns, such as "The Doctor Says," and the widely-read women's page features—by Elizabeth Hurlock and Josephine Lowman.

One of the most popular of the feature and picture services is the Newspaper Enterprises Association of Cleveland, which keeps the Times abreast of the most vital and interesting news.

Canadian Press picture service and Dominion News Bureau maintain a constant flow of photos and "mats"—hard paper molds from which pictures can be cast in metal ready for printing.

Times readers have also come to enjoy pictures carrying the simple credit line, "Mirrorpic."

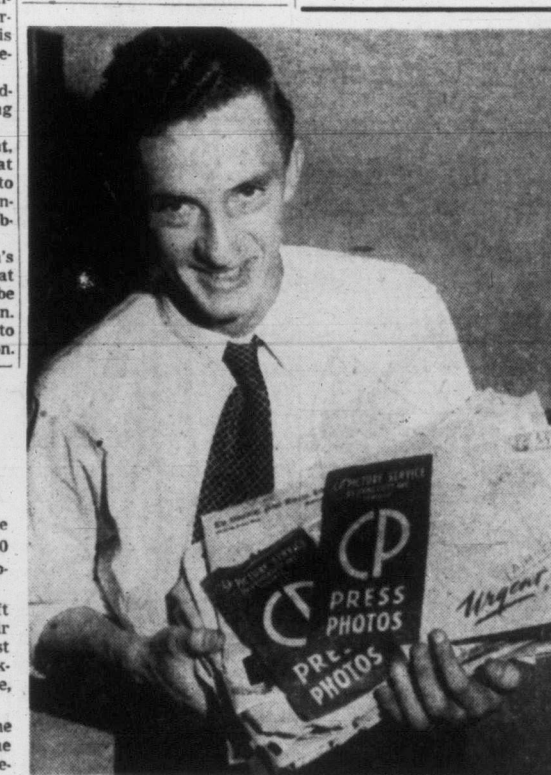

These prints, exclusive to the Times in British Columbia, arrive almost daily from the London Daily Mirror about 30 hours after having been snapped by a news photographer.

Pictures of the jet aircraft disaster at the Farnborough air show in England, and the best photos ever made of the sinking of the Flying Enterprise, were provided by Mirrorpic.

These are only a few of the services that help to make the newspaper a complete daily record of news highlights on the national and international scale. Placed at the disposal of skilled editors, they make available for readers a complete history of each day, and help to keep the Canadian public the best informed in the world.

Ever-Changing Scene At Wholesale Row!

By PENNY SAVER

Whoops! Here the week is thinning out and I haven't even mentioned the situation on Wholesale Row.

Oh well, better late than never. There is not a great deal of news right now, but what there is, is good.

I guess one of the most unexpected items was the carload of peaches that came in this week. The supply should last until the beginning of next week—not much later.

Cranberries are here. The shipment from the east is packaged in one-pound bags and is a little higher in price than last year.

It's the in-between season for potatoes. There are not many locals left and some of those now on sale are from Lethbridge. A new shipment from the dry belt is expected within the next week or 10 days.

Local tomatoes are selling very reasonably and should last until the first frost.

Italian prunes, while good right now, are not expected to be on the market much longer than another week. Prices are quite reasonable for them.

Okanagan concord grapes are on the market and there are still a few cantaloupe, which, by the way, are of good quality.

Delicious corn which we have enjoyed for so long is just about over. Local lettuce is selling at an extremely reasonable price and is still good. There is also some lettuce from California on the stands.

Spanish and regular size onions are cheaper in price and of course—good.

Only imported apple right now is the McIntosh reds from the Okanagan, but you can buy local apples of every kind at very reasonable prices.

Here's good news for those who like grapefruit. The first shipment of Florida pink grapefruit arrived today and will be on the stands by the week-end.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Brows Will Look Thicker With Stray Hairs Plucked

Q—"How can I make my natural in daylight if you use a brow pencil?"

A—"I have a small bust. I am very self-conscious about it, especially when swimming. I have read that the size of the bust is governed by the amount of fatty tissue. I am five feet six and one-half inches tall and weigh 137 pounds. Do you advise a gain in weight? My measurements are: bust, 36 inches; waist, 26 inches, and hips, 40 inches. I am 30 years old."

A—"Your weight is just about perfect. Your bust measurement sounds perfect, too. Your hips are too large. However, I suspect that some of your bust measurement may be due to a large honey structure. This affects the bust measurement and it is possible to have a small bust and a 36-inch measurement."

I imagine you could carry a bit more weight, perhaps five pounds. Your weight does affect the size of your bust. However, the underlying chest muscles act as padding and also affect the bust measurement. Therefore take bust developing and hips reducing exercises and gain a few pounds—not many though.

Q—"Will you please tell me if I am much underweight and what I can do about it? I am 15 years old and weigh 100 pounds. I am five feet five inches tall."

A—"You are a lot underweight and should do something about it. This is especially true at your age. For health's sake you must gain. You should weigh about 125 pounds. I haven't space today to go into weight gaining but watch "Why Grow Old?" because soon I will write a column on this subject."

Q—"Is it possible to lose in inches without losing weight?"

A—"Yes. It is even possible to gain weight while losing in inches because of firming up."

Jaycee-Ettes Victoria, Monday at 8.15, at home of Mrs. J. Ledger, 1800 Brighton Avenue. Guest speaker will be Mrs. N. Graham and Miss A. Leask.

Why Not Social Clubs For the Handicapped?

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Hurlock

(A)—I agree wholeheartedly. To be congenial, people must have not only interests in common but also a sympathetic understanding for one another.

The person who is handicapped in any way, whether by blindness, deafness, or lameness, generally can't fit into the pattern of life set for those without handicaps. As a result, he feels like a fish out of water.

Furthermore, others have a tendency to overlook the problems a handicapped person must face and the adjustments he must make to fit into an average situation. Because they don't understand, they do little to make things easier for the handicapped.

Forming such a club as suggested above would require only the initiative of a person who recognizes its need. Whether this be done by a handicapped person or by the church or by both working together would depend upon the persons involved. Surely any school, church, or other community building would gladly open its doors for a meeting place for such a group. And with information about its organization spread throughout the community in the newspapers, it should take little time to bring together all who are interested.

English Visitor Active In Women's Service Work

The Women's Voluntary Service, geared now to peace time efforts, is active in every village, county and city in England, explains Hon. Mrs. William Aitken, a member of the W.V.S. in her own particular county of Suffolk.

Mrs. Aitken has come from the British Isles with her husband, a nephew of Lord Beaverbrook, who is on a brief business trip.

"Not only is the W.V.S. active in family and children service work, in which we co-operate with the village and county authorities but we are ready to help in the cast of disaster," she continues.

"Just recently, during the Lynmouth flood, the W.V.S. was asked to send clothing and food. We were able to act immediately because we are well organized for just such an emergency.

THEY ARE PREPARED

Then she added seriously, "And we are all taking refresher courses now, in work we did during the war, in order that we may be prepared for anything."

This slim blue-eyed young Englishwoman, mother of two children, is a child specialist in the work of the W.V.S. in her county. In the course of this work she will occasionally take a child-home for a period of "rehabilitation" when its foster mother has found she cannot manage him.

At present she has one of these, a baby, in her home in Suffolk. "I'm really anxious to get back to see that all is well," she tells you.

HELP CHILDREN

When she returns home she has a new project to start in connection with the W.V.S. That is to interest women of her county in making clothes for children in county and foster-homes.

"It's a big undertaking," Mrs. Aitken says, "but we'll do it!"

Mrs. Aitken is seeing Canada for the first time. "It's beautiful," she says, "but there is so much of it and not nearly enough time on this trip to see it all. I do hope I will be able to come again."

Hon. Mrs. William Aitken, daughter of Lord Rugby, was born in Pakistan and grew up in the great white palace on the banks of the Nile where General Gordon was assassinated.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Cook All Pork Well, Avoid Disease Danger

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
A correspondent asks whether it is possible to get the disease known as trichinosis from bacon and ham as well as from fresh pork. The answer to this is yes—the disease can be acquired from any infected pork products which have not been thoroughly cooked.

During 1944 nearly 100,000,000 hogs were slaughtered in this country, of which number approximately 1.5 per cent are believed to have been infected with trichinae. It is calculated that the average person has 200 servings of pork each year, and out of that number three contain trichinae.

This disease, caused by a tiny animal parasite, is much more important than has been generally realized. For example, in Massachusetts between 1936 and 1945, 287 cases were reported, with seven deaths.

Surveys in various localities throughout the United States indicate that from about one person in three to one in five has been infected.

When live trichinae are swallowed they pass through the wall of the intestines and are carried to the muscles in various parts of the body. How severe the symptoms will be depends principally on the number of parasites present.

During the first week following the swallowing of infected meat, the worms develop in the intestines. There they may produce nausea and vomiting and diarrhea. Sometimes abdominal pain is present.

About the ninth or tenth day the trichinae begin to invade the muscles. Here, if there are enough of them they produce muscular tenderness, especially in the arms and legs. Sometimes a reddish rash on the skin develops during this stage. There is often fever. Puffiness and swelling of the face, especially around the eyes, is common. In the severe cases the patient becomes anemic and loses weight.

LONG-TERM FREEZING HELPS
After the parasites have been in the muscles for a while they form sacs or cysts which represent a relatively quiet stage of the disease. These, too, however, can produce some muscular pain.

In mild cases the symptoms may last for only 10 or 12 days, while in severe ones, the symptoms may continue for six or eight weeks.

This serious danger to the health of the nation can and should be controlled. The most important preventive measures include cooking garbage before it is fed to hogs, the inspection of pork under the microscope, the proper processing of pork products which are eaten without cooking, and stamping out the disease in hogs.

The best safeguard against trichinosis is to cook all pork products—thoroughly, though long-term freezing is also said to be effective.

Driver Warned Next Conviction Will Mean Jail

William Todd, 315 Beckley, was warned by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court Thursday that the next time he was convicted on a driving charge he would be sent to jail.

Todd was fined a total of $85 for driving a car while his license was suspended and for dangerous driving. He was prohibited from driving for one year. He has several previous convictions for driving offenses.

"I've given serious consideration to sending you to jail with the option of a fine. However, I am going to let you off this time with a fine, but next time it will mean jail," said Magistrate Hall.

Island Students Win Four Purses To Assist Study

Four island students at U.B.C. have been awarded British Columbia Forest Products scholarships and bursaries.

Miss Sylvia Southin of Victoria has been awarded a $250 bursary to continue her studies toward a B.A. degree in chemistry. J. Chouinard, Yubou, also received a bursary of $250.

Roy Westwick of Honeycomb Bay was awarded a scholarship of $300 for high standing on matriculation examinations last June, while Donald A. McKay, also of Yubou, has been awarded $300 to continue his studies in the field of zoology.

For award next fall, British Columbia Forest Products is offering 14 scholarships of $300 each for sons and daughters of employees at Yubou, Victoria, Hammond and Vancouver sawmills, and at its head office and logging divisions. A bursary fund of $2,500 annually has also been established for the dependents of employees beginning or continuing their studies at the University of British Columbia or Victoria College. Winners of awards are chosen by U.B.C.

Driver Education In Night Classes

A course in driver education will begin Oct. 9 at Victoria High School as part of the night school program of Victoria School Board.

Subjects to be discussed in the lectures will be actual driving, traffic rules and regulations, elementary car maintenance, common highway hazards and insurance.

Speakers will be drawn from city police and R.C.M.P., the legal profession, Motor Vehicle Branch, driving schools, automotive trades and the insurance business.

Registration will take place at the first class. The fee is $5 for the course, which will conclude Dec. 18.

Such statements do much to confuse the public and it certainly does not reflect credit upon Mr. Snowsell, or his party, when such completely inaccurate and misleading statements are made.

Campbell River Hydro Output at New Record

B.C. Power Commission's John Hart development on Campbell River has established two output records, and peak demand at the hydro plant has reached a new high.

The commission announced Thursday during August the plant produced 36,440,000 kilowatt hours, highest since development commenced operation in December, 1947.

Also, during August, a 24-hour output of 1,175,484 kilowatt hours and maximum demand of 83,000 horsepower established record figures.

The commission's monthly operations report, in revealing these records, noted that their significance lies in the fact that the increased output is largely due to demands other than those of the Elk Falls Company, whose power requirements at its new Duncan Bay newsprint mill showed only a slight increase over the previous month.

The record 34,400 k.w.h. monthly output compares with 26,540,000 in August, 1951, and presents an increase of 5,190,000 k.w.h. over July of this year.

Energy requirements for the commission's system throughout the province during August showed a 31.8 per cent increase over the same month last year. A total of 45,588,748 k.w.h. went into the system, as compared with 34,532,186 k.w.h. in August, 1951.

Pre-Christmas Cuts In Taxes Ruled Out

Finance Minister Will Go to London Parley And Miss Most of Session; M.P.'s Disappointed

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

British United Press Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (BUP)—The government has decided definitely to reject any and all demands of opposition parties for a speedy reduction of taxes at the pre-Christmas session of Parliament.

The decision was indicated today when cabinet sources revealed that Finance Minister Douglas Abbott had been chosen to accompany Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent to the Commonwealth economic conference opening in London on Nov. 27.

Like the Prime Minister, Mr. Abbott will be present for less than a week of the parliamentary session which opens Nov. 20. His absence will thus preclude the possibility of a special budget to effect the cut in taxes at the earliest possible moment which Progressive Conservative, Social Credit and C.C.F. speakers have been demanding lately.

SURPLUS SOARED

The opposition speakers all have based their demands for a pre-Christmas cut in taxes upon the fact that the federal treasury's budgetary surplus for the first five months of the fiscal year stands at more than $336,000,000.

The accumulation of so huge a margin in less than half of the year's collection period leaves the government with no excuse for delaying the tax cuts to which the people are entitled, the opposition parties have argued.

So far the finance minister's reply has been to point out that while in the opening months of the fiscal year the treasury surplus was accumulating at the rate of better than $75,000,000 monthly, last month the rate of increase dropped sharply to $1,800,000.

Emphasizing that the expenditures under the defense program are still some $30,000,000 short of their scheduled monthly maximum, Mr. Abbott has hinted that the surpluses of recent months may be replaced by substantial monthly deficits before the year ends.

In his latest comments on the situation during the past week, the finance minister stated that he would be well satisfied if the treasury "broke even" when the year's books were finally closed.

The decision to "wait and see" the full results of the year's revenue operations before deciding the tax relief, if any, which can be granted to the public is understood to have won the grudging approval of Liberal M.P.'s who have been visiting the capital in recent weeks in numbers wholly unusual for a parliamentary recess.

The influx which represented virtually all sections of the country commenced almost immediately after the prime minister's Brandon speech on his western tour. It was in that speech that Mr. St. Laurent warned the public that the defense spending program would take full precedence over desires for tax cuts.

The Liberals descending upon the capital immediately thereafter made it brutally clear to the cabinet that they regarded the prime minister's discouragement of lower tax hopes as adding dangerously to the current chill in the political climate to which federal liberalism is being exposed nationwide.

But while they, too, would like

Hollanders Won't Forget Liberators

The people of Holland have never forgotten the Canadians who liberated them from German occupation during the Second World War, a visiting Hollander told the Victoria Rotary Club Thursday.

S. J. Vander Meulen Gorredyk of Drachten, Netherlands, was introduced as a member-guest by S. F. Ford to a gathering of 200 in the crystal ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

The foreign representative, who motored to Victoria over 8,000 miles from Halifax, presented the local group with a plaque bearing the coat-of-arms of his village, and the Rotarian flag.

to see handsome tax cuts at the pre-Christmas session, the rank-and-file Liberals are reported to have resigned themselves reluctantly to waiting until the regular spring budget to get them.

They are said to concede the reasonableness of the argument that the government should have the complete year's revenue experience clearly before it in order to decide how much it may be able to remit without damage to vital interests.

A HONEY FOR THE MONEY

If we had the dough & 20 more feet, we'd buy 10 houses along some street; and we'd furnish each house from ceiling to floor, & chuck forever our great big store. Because we have seen, the last few days, how people love to come & gaze; at the things we're showing all flower-crowned, tables & sofas in their proper background. In this "Young Canada Home" 3 bedrooms the rule, located close by the University School. Our guests have goggled, in one accord, at the blond suite with the tricky headboard. Smack on the dot they wanted to sign, loved Peggy's curtains, & the spread in wine.

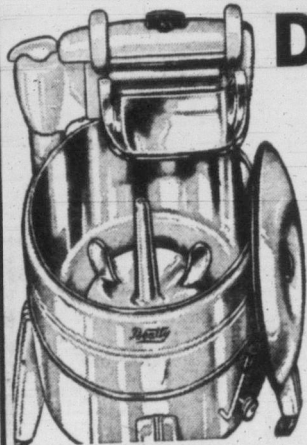

Yes, this is the way, and it's no baloney, so we're gonna proposition Mr. Mahoney; genial George before he hardens, to let us stay here in his University Gardens. We'll change our stuff every few days, & Ken Robinson can keep it ever ablaze; with HIS kind of flowers, always tip-top, the best he has in The Posh Shop. Yes, it looks to me 'twould be a push-over, but COME ON OUT before it is over. How 'bout tonight, 'cause we're closing Monday, or come Saturday, or any time Sunday. We've something that seems to pull the men, the way we have furnished the ducky den. "Now, —there," said a father to his helpmate. "THAT is a den to hibernate." "Yes," she sighed, "& for SO little money." "Ummmmmm," said the "bear." "I could go for that 'honey'." SEE YOU, EH? ... 'tis so easily found, come on out, and we'll kick it around. No need, just a drive, aimless & loose, plan a visit with me, or Barley or Bruce. Or talk to Phil Townsend, or Mr. Mahoney, whether you're spiced or pre-matrimony. They'll tell you how, so EASY to pay, thru "Stewart-Clarke" & The N.E.A. Could be this home is just YOUR size, & I'll bet YOU'RE the one to win the DOOR PRIZE.

Big Store Merger To Be Voted Today

TORONTO, Oct. 3 (BUP)—Stockholders of the Robert Simpson Company met today to approve an alliance giving Sears Roebuck of Chicago, Ill., a half interest in a mail order business stretching from Bermuda to the Yukon.

The special stockholders' meeting was called for 3 p.m. E.S.T. (noon P.S.T.) in Simpson's plush restaurant, the Arcadian Court. Officials estimated that about 100 persons would attend. The rest will vote by proxy.

The contract worked out between the two department store giants would sell Simpsons' booming mail order business with 280 local order offices from Dawson Creek on the Alaskan Highway to Bermuda, to a new company, Simpson-Sears. The price was $48,000,000 cash. Both Simpsons and Sears would put up a $20,000,000 share in the new company.

The Simpsons' directors unanimously recommended approval of the agreement.

Tractor Kills Man

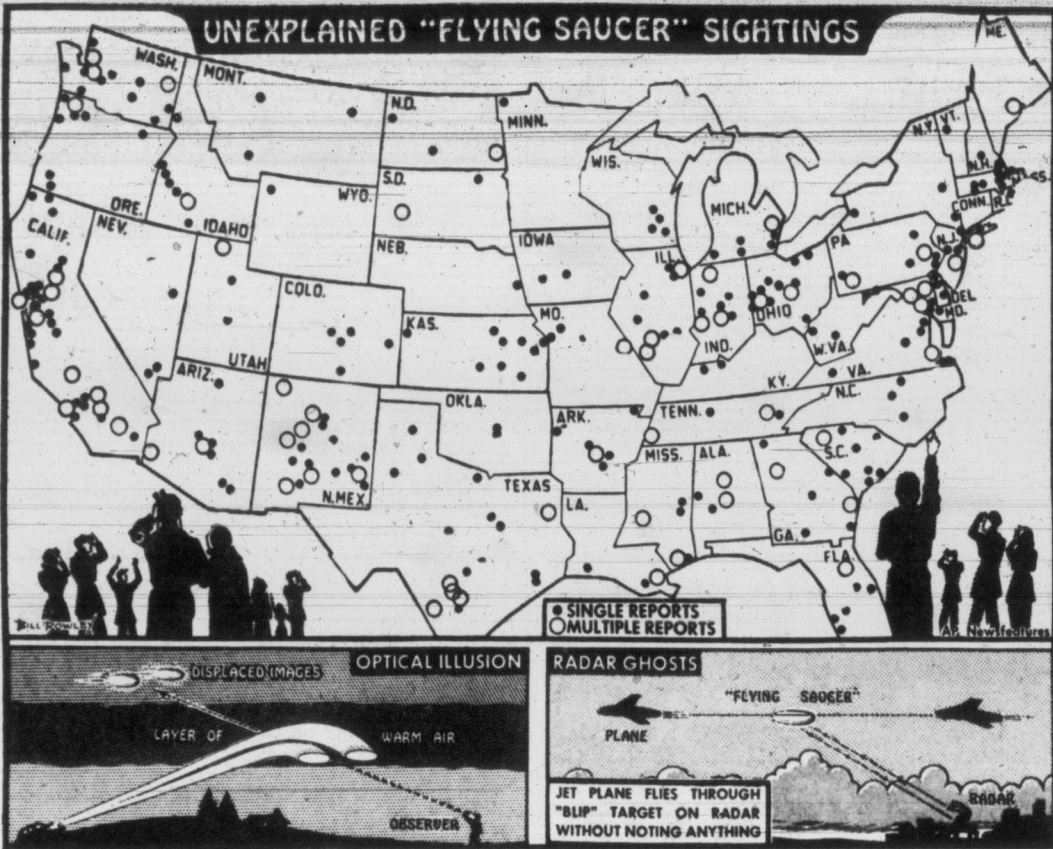

NELSON, B.C., Oct. 3 (BUP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported that 62-year-old Leslie Berney of Lister was killed Wednesday when the tractor he was driving overturned. Berney was reported hauling gravel for a public works department project at the time.

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Mayor Paul Crawford reports that although building permits worth $1,500,000 have been issued this year, Alberta's fifth city is experiencing one of its worst housing shortages.

City Grain Elevator Sold for $202,500

Victoria has one less "white elephant" today as legal machinery goes into motion for transfer of Ogden Point grain elevator to Hallet & Carey, B.C., Ltd. for $202,500.

City Council at a special meeting Thursday sold the 24-year-old building for less than one half the $434,917 still owing on it.

When queried as to whether the city would apply money from the sale of the debt, Mayor Claude Harrison said:

"I don't know. I haven't gone into the details."

Hallet & Carey, a Vancouver subsidiary of a Winnipeg grain firm were successful over the only other bidder, Kerr Gifford Ltd. of Portland.

The latter, present lessees who have nearly 1,000,000 bushels of corn stored in the elevator, bid $201,551.

"We saved $52,000 on the building anyway" they wanted to let it go for $150,000, Mayor Harrison said following the "in camera" session of council.

He was referring to the fact that the lands committee and the city manager, had said, agreed previously to grant Kerr

Gifford a $150,000 option to buy, along with a year's lease at an increased rent.

The mayor opposed it, urging council to call for bids. He said the building was worth much more than $150,000.

"I feel it is still worth more than the present offer but under the circumstances there is no use holding out. They all want to sell it."

"We saved $52,000 by waiting three weeks anyway—it just shows the value of not rushing important things."

The grain elevator was completed by Panama-Pacific Grain Terminals Ltd. in 1927. The city guaranteed $500,000 in bonds.

The company defaulted in 1936—having made no annual payments to the city, Arthur Patton, solicitor, pointed out.

"We made a claim and started foreclosure under our mortgage," he said. "The company offered a quit claim to the city in the amount of the bonds—$500,000."

The city had no authority then to take a quit claim deed but got special powers from the legislature permitting it, Mr. Patton said.

The city had powers to sell under terms of the original agreement, he said, which contained a special assessment of $150,000 on land and improvements. The new owners will have that special assessment.

The $500,000 debt plus costs of $8,000 was to be paid off by the city in 1953. By the refunding act of the 30's the debt was extended to 1975. The city pays an average of $18,000 a year on the $434,917 principal and interest.

Flying Saucers---Fact or Fancy? U.S. Air Force Wants to Know

By WARREN BENNETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

What are these things popularly referred to as "flying saucers?"

The United States air force, which has spent five years chasing will-o'-the-wisps from coast to coast, still hasn't a short, hard, precise answer to the question.

The air force is continuing to investigate reports of so-called "flying saucers" with what it characterizes as "adequate but no frantic" attention. It believes that eventually most aerial phenomena will be understood as more is known about the upper atmosphere.

But if the Pentagon doesn't know exactly what all the supposed objects are, it can tell you definitely what they are not.

The Department of Defense says they are not a secret weapon, missile or aircraft developed by the United States.

Neither the army, navy, air force, nor any other government agency is conducting experiments that could be the basis for the rash of sightings.

And so far as is known, says the Defense Department, there is no indication that anything is being directed against the U.S. from another country or from another planet.

Since 1947 the air force has investigated and analyzed 1,500 reports dealing with aerial phenomena.

MILITARY REPORTS
The majority of these reports came from civilians. About eight per cent came from civilian airline pilots and about 25 per cent from military personnel.

To help evaluate and interpret these reports the air force obtained the services of civilian and military astronomers, electronic specialists, meteorologists, aeronautical engineers, physicists and psychologists.

The evidence indicated most reports of unidentified flying objects could be accounted for as misinterpretations of various conventional objects. They stemmed from what psychologists call a mild form of mass hysteria. Reports of similar phenomena go back to Biblical times. There have been flurries of them in various centuries.

Most of the reports were identified and disposed of as friendly aircraft erroneously reported, known electronic and meteorological phenomena, light aberrations, man-made objects such as weather balloons, and hoaxes.

But about 300—20 per cent—have to be classified as unexplained.

It is fairly well established that some of these images are ground objects reflected from a layer of warm air above the earth as shown in the accompanying sketch. These temperature inversion reflections can give a return on a radar scope as sharp as that received from an aircraft. So-called "electrified clouds."

RADAR FIX
Bearing out this theory is a January, 1951, incident near O'Kridge, Tenn., site of the atomic installation. Two air force planes attempted to intercept an unidentified "object" actually established a radar "lock" on it. Their altitude at the time was 7,000 feet. On their radar, the object appeared to be at an elevation of 10 to 25 degrees. The pilots made three passes in an attempt to close on the object. In each instance, the pilots reported their radar led them first upward and then down toward a specific point on the ground.

On September 2, 1952, a jet fighter flew right through a spot in the sky over Chicago while radar scopes on the ground were showing blips from an unexplained object. Said the pilot: "We didn't see anything. We didn't hit anything. We went through the target showing on the scope and there was nothing there—not even a cloud."

In any event, the subject is hot. Probably it will continue so until there is a logical explanation for reports of all unexplained aerial phenomena. Until such time the air force isn't writing the subject off.

Time for Koreans To Fight Own War—like

ABOARD THE EISENHOWER, said, "Failures that led us into First World War, Second World War, into the cold war, and finally into Korea."

Later, in a speech at Peoria, Illinois, said Thursday that the general asserted that a "false prosperity" exists in the U.S. and that "whatever economic gains have been made since 1932 have been due, not to administration ingenuity, but to war or threat of war."

"War, not the Fair Deal, brought about the end of unemployment," he said. "The legacy of war, not the Fair Deal, helped to sustain a high level of economic activity."

"There is no future for America in economic policies that depend upon the stimulus of war and threat of war to create and maintain prosperity."

He did not further elaborate on this reference to the U.S. relationship to the Asiatic countries in event of war.

In a speech at Champaign to an audience partly consisting of university students, Eisenhower asked what lessons his generation could pass on to them. Then he said:

"We can pass on to you only the lessons... that are coming from a series of failures," he
